PHOTOGRAPHING PRINCESS ALICE.

Honour Paid to Lady Photographer.

A signal honour has just been paid to Miss Jane Plotz, the well-known Johannesburg photographer, who a few days ago received a command to photograph Her Royal Highness, Princess Alice and Lady May Cambridge. The completed work represents some fine specimens of the photographic art and stamp Miss Plotz as an artist who possesses an unique style of original craftsmanship.

Miss Jane Plotz.
[A self-study]

The invitation to photograph Princess Alice is a culmination of the growing appreciation of Miss Plotz's work in South Africa. The artistry of this photographer is evident in the many specimens shown in her delightful studio. Miss Plotz is essentially an artist with ideas of her own and she may be said to be creating new ideas in photography all the time.

Miss Plotz thinks that photography is a profession for women with ideas and a capacity for work She firmly bleieves that in the future there will be a greater number of women portrait photographers while men will devote their efforts to commercial aspects of the profession.

Besides being an exceedingly able photographer, Miss Plotz is a most capable business woman and has built up a fine organisation in connection with her studio.

FRANK—KRETZMAR.

A pretty wedding took place in the Memorial Road Synagogue, Kimberley, on Sunday, 26th October, when Miss Frieda Kretzmar, second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. Kretzmar, of Malmesbury, was married to Mr. Harry Frank. The Rev. M. Konviser, assisted by Cantor Rudy, officiated, the ceremony being rendered beautiful by the organ accompaniment.

The bride was given away by her brother, Dr. Noel Kretzmar. The bridesmaid was Miss Ashne Kretzmar, while the three maids-of-honour were the Misses Gwen Sieradzki, Nancy Marcus and Minnie Melunsky. Little Bubbles Melunsky made a dainty flower-girl, Mr. Jack Frank being the best man, and Messrs. S. Levine, Advocates D. Cohen and J. J. Friedman attending as groomsmen. The unterfuhrers were Mr. and Mrs. H. Levy of Kroonstad (brother-in-law and sister of the bride), and Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank (parents of the bridegroom).

After the ceremony a reception was given at the Constance Hall, at which about 600 guests were present.

The great popularity of the bride and bridegroom were eloquently testified to by the large number of telegrams and a fine array of wedding presents.

MR. ALEC WITKIN.

Mr. Alec Witkin is one of the cleverest theatrical artists which Johannesburg has lately produced. The fortunate possessor of a powerful baritone voice of fine quality, he studied singing with Signors Burani and Ferri and has made several successful appearances on the concert platform.

His success in the "trial turn" competition at the Empire Theatre, led to his engagement by the African Theatres, Ltd. His turn labelled "A Few Minutes Off Duty," consisted of an impersonation of a native houseboy and is an extremely typical South African act.

On account of his success in this country, Mr. Witkin is taking "the plunge" by leaving for overseas and is due to sail on November 18 for England. In view of Mr. Witkin's talent, there is every liklihood that his success in Europe will shortly be heard of.
