DEZE kostbare Medicyn, welke in Engeland zoo veel aandacht tot zich trekt, als een middel om het menschelyk leven te verlengen, wordt door de Eigenaren aanbevolen ter genezing van de ongesteldheden welke eigen zyn aan de Oost en West-Indien, Zuid-Amerika, en alle landen waar de spoedige aanwas en eene spoedige verwelking van het gras, en de groote kracht van de stralen der Zon de lucht met vergiftige en schadelyke dampen verpesten; en hare bijzondere geschiktheid voor deze luchtstreken is zo volkomen getoetst en bevestigd geworden. Deze ongesteldheden, namelyk, gal, lever en andere kwalen, verbonden aan eene ontsteltenis van de maag en van de vloeiende deelen, welke altoos in voortgelyke landen moeten bestaan, en welke zich voordoen door eene verscheidenheid van kentekenen, namelyk duizeling van het hoofd en de borst, neerslagtigheid, en in vele gevallen door die smartelyke gevolgen windzucht en zenuwachtige en stuipachtige aandoeningen van de levens organen, zyn, in elk geval waarin zulks beproefd is, volkomen door deze medicyn genezen.

DE ZUID-AFRIKAAN.

KAAPSTAD DEN 28 MAART 1845.

MET veel genoegen bergten wy ons lezers op, dat zy diegenen, die hen stellen in de daarstelling van Gaswerken in deze Municipaliteit, dat de Raad van Commissarissen op 'l. Woensdag van Zyne Excellentie den Gouverneur eene mededeeling heeft ontvangen, zyne toestemming en goedkeuring behelzende tot de vergunning van het stuk grond door ons lu week vermeld. De Gaslicht Maatschappy heeft, aan den anderen kant, derzelver aanneming te kennen gegeven van de vergunning, onder de voorwaarden en huur door de Raden van Commissarissen en Wykmeesters bepaald.

De lang gewenschte invoer van Gaslicht schynt dus eerlang verzekerd te zullen worden. Het besluit van de Municipaliteit en de toestemming van het Gouvernement, moeten nu nog slechts in de Gouvernements Gazette tot narigt van het publiek gepubliceerd worden, waarna de vergunning in behoorlyken vorm geschieden zal.

Wy verwachten van het gezond verstand der ingezetenen dezer Municipaliteit, en de Huisheuders, dat zy zulk eene wenschelyke onderneming niet noodeloos tegenwerken, noch zich zullen laten wegslepen door het ydel geschreeuw van "hindernis." Diegenen welke nummer in Europa geweest zyn, of die noodt een Gaslicht etablissement gezien hebben, kunnen niet uit eigen ondervinding zeggen, dat het eene hindernis is. Zy worden daarom weggesleept en bestuurd door de gevoelens diergenen die voorwenden zoodanige inrigtingen gezien en derzelver gevolgen ondervonden te hebben. Waarom dan zullen zy luisteren naar het verhaal van de eene party? Waarom alleen geloof slaan aan diegenen die eene hindernis voorwenden, en ook diegenen niet geloven welke mede uit ondervindig sprekende zoodanig gevolg ontkennen.

Nog eens, de kennis diergenen die gaswerken gezien hebben is uitsluitelyk alleen bepaald tot het oorspronkelyke stelsel en grondbeginsel, waarop het werk eenige jaren geleden voortgezet werd, of dezelve van latere aantekening kennis zich de verschillende verbeteringen welke ingevoerd zyn. Het gevoelen van eerstgemelden kan natuurlyks als geldende worden beschouwd, wanneer laatstgemelden beweren dat zoodanige verbeteringen het gevolg gehad hebben om de eigenlyke hindernis, welke de voren bestaan waren, uit den weg te ruimen. Zullen onze ingezetenen die dezelve nimmer gezien hebben, slechts geloof slaan aan het gevoelen van eerstgemelden, en de getuigenis van laatstgemelden wantrouwen? Waarom zullen zy dit doen?

Wy hebben sedert ons laatste, gelegenheid gehad een Hollandsche Heer, onlangs alhier aangekomen, te spreken, die de gaswerken in Rotterdam heeft gezien, en zegt dat een soortgelyk werk opgerigt is geworden in de onmiddelyke buurt van "de Boompjes" (men houde in het oog dat deze de gewone wandelplaats der Beau-Monde is,) en dat daardoor geene byzondere hindernis wordt ondervonden, en in alle gevallen veel minder dan veroorzaakt wordt door eene gewone Zeepziedery of Kaarsen fabriek.

Wanneer wy soodanige getuigenis voor ons hebben, waarom zullen wy dan uitsluitelyk acht geven op de eene zyde der kwestie, en ons laten overhalen tot het teekenen van protesten of petitien, met het doel om den voorgestelden maatregel te dwarsboomen? Zoude het in alle gevallen niet beter en mannelyker zyn voor diegenen die eene opposite verwachten, zich uitsluitelyk te spreken en te zeggen: "Ziet de dwarsvellingen, en gewrongen hindernissen, welke wy van de zyde van de Municipaliteit en van de Gouvernement mogen verwachten, hebben met alle zaak aangeboden van de Gouvernement en de Municipaliteit, en dat ook bij Gouvernement en Municipaliteit toegezegd heeft te zyn van aanbieding van dezelfde zaak, en dat ook bij Wykmeesters

ZUID-AFRIKAAN

CAPE TOWN, MARCH 20, 1845.

We have much pleasure in informing those interested in the establishment of Gas Light in this Municipality, that the Board of Commissioners received on Wednesday last a communication from His Excellency the Governor, notifying his consent and concurrence in the grant of the piece of ground as mentioned by us last week. The Gas Light Company on the other hand, have notified their acceptance of the grant under the conditions and the rent as decided upon by the Boards of Commissioners and Wardmasters.

Thus the long wished for introduction of Gas Light appears to reach proper maturity. The resolutions of the Municipality and the concurrence of Government, require now only to be published in the Government Gazette, for the information of the public, after which the grant will be effected in due form.

We trust from the good sense of the inhabitants of this Municipality and the Householders, that they will not needlessly oppose so desireable an undertaking, nor allow themselves to be led astray by the vain clamour of "Nuisance." Those who have never been in Europe, or who have never seen a Gas Light Establishment, cannot from self experience, maintain that it is a nuisance. They are therefore led away and guided by the opinions of those, who allege to have seen such establishments and experienced their effect. Why then should they listen to the one side of the story? Why believe those only, who allege a nuisance, and not give credence to those, who, also speaking by experience, deny such effect?

Again, the knowledge of those who have seen Gas Light Establishments, is either confined to the original system and principle, upon which the work was conducted some years ago,—or it is of recent date, and takes in the various improvements, which have been introduced. The opinion of the former, can hardly be taken as conclusive, when the latter affirm that such improvements have had the effect of removing the very nuisance, which previously existed. Will our inhabitants who have never seen it, still unreasonably abide by the opinion of the former, and disbelieve the testimony of the latter? Why should they?

We have since our last had an opportunity of ascertaining from a Dutch Gentleman, who has seen the Gas Light Establishment established in Rotterdam, and who recently arrived here, that a similar Establishment has been erected in the direct neighbourhood of "the Boompjes"—(be it observed, this is the usual walk of the Beau Monde,)—and that no particular nuisance is derived from it, less at all events, than is effected by any common Soap Manufactory, or Tallow Chandlery.

When we have such evidence before us, why should we listen exclusively to one side of the question, and lead ourselves to sign protests and petitions, for the purpose of thwarting the proposed measures. Would it not, at all events, be better and more manly in those, who originate an opposition against it, to speak out at once, and say: "We are against the establishment of Gas Light, because it will interfere with our trade;—I can't sell my tallow;—I can't sell my candles. The town, if lighted by Gas during the night, can dispense with Police protection during the night;—I wish myself to have the piece of ground in question, &c., and therefore we will not have any Gas Light;" is it not better thus manly to speak out, instead of pretending to be in favor of the measure, yet underhand opposing its execution, and carrying fuel to the fire, for the purpose of neutralizing every effort?

When the question was first brought under the consideration of the Commissioners, those of the inhabitants, who opposed it, were present, and verbally stated the grounds of their objections. Further enquiry was made on the subject, the pro's and con's were considered, and the Commissioners have finally unanimously resolved to make the grant for the purpose of carrying out the measure.

In the Board of Wardmasters, when it was submitted for their consideration, the same difficulty was mooted, and the Board took time to enquire and consider; and after having done so, they at last came to a resolution, (with a dissentient of three only) to concur with the Commissioners.

Is it to be supposed that if such nuisance were anticipated, both the Boards would with such unanimity of opinion resolve upon the measure, and Government also consent to it?

We admit that in general, men should not be guided by the opinion of others only; but should have theirs also placed in the scale. Yet when the question of nuisance is to be decided upon the testimony of others, and not by one's own experience, it behoves us to weigh the evidence, and to ascertain, whether the interest of those who raise the cry of nuisance, are in any way directly or indirectly, connected with the measure; and, on the other hand to satisfy themselves, that those who deny the "Nuisance," have no interest in the matter.

We ourselves have none, because not being a shareholder in the company, nor residing in the neighbourhood of the proposed site, we only look forward to the carrying out of a beneficial measure which promises to be of infinite advantage to the public at large. And with that spirit, we trust every inhabitant, even those, who have an ill-natured notion to oppose it, will view the matter.

The following is the communication of Government above alluded to:—

Colonial Office, Cape Town, 19th March 1845.

NOTICE.

Office of the Colonial Secretary, Public Works, Cape Town, 14th March 1845.

Notice is hereby given, that the Tollhouse on the Road between the first cross-bar beyond Mowbray Hill and the Tiger Vlei Convict Station is strictly forbidden until the Road is opened to the Public; and all Persons who shall after this Notice be found with Wagons or any other vehicles thereon, will be turned off the Road, and prosecuted according to Law.

By Order of the Board,
W. TENNANT, Secretary.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

A probable change in the Cabinet would be the substitution of Mr. Gladstone for Lord Stanley in the Colonial department. Circumstances resided the retirement of Lord Stanley from that office is likely enough. The noble lord is itself extremely wished to retire altogether from the Ministry in 1843. Domestic reasons, his distinclination to official labours, and not the "misty relation of New Zealand, (besides other colonial bêtes noires)," render his lordship's resignation of office not improbable.—London Correspondent of the Scotsman.

SIR CHARLES METCALFE AND SIR JOHN BARROW.

We have authority to state that the Queen has been graciously pleased to confer a peerage on Sir Charles Metcalfe, by the title of Baron Metcalfe, of Fern Hill.—Morning Herald.

We understand that Sir John Barrow, Principal Secretary of the Admiralty, will immediately retire, and that Captain Hamilton, Private Secretary to Lord Haddington, will be his successor.—Globe.

AWFUL AND SUDDEN DEATHS BY LIGHTNING.

It is our painful duty to record the sudden deaths by lightning of one of our enterprising Sheep farmers, Mr. Frederick Philippe, and his maid-servant, which occurred at his Farm, "Malange Kraal," about 50 miles from Graham's Town, on Thursday evening last, the 13th instant. We have been favored with a sight of a letter, addressed by one of Mr. Philippe's family to a relative in this town, the particulars of which are as follows:—The storm had been raging for a considerable time, accompanied with very heavy rain, and much thunder and lightning, during the continuance of which Mr. Frederick Philippe led Mrs. F. Philippe to a sofa, a place he considered more free from danger than any other part of the room. They were immediately joined by Mr. Thomas Philippe, the father of Mr. F. Philippe, and by his son, Mr. John Philippe, and were all seated on the sofa, when about 8 o'clock in the evening, the house received a violent shock, and the electric fluid struck Mr. F. Philippe, and stunned the other parties. Mr. Thomas Philippe was the first to recover, when he perceived with horror that his son Frederick had not so fortunately escaped the awful visitation. On rising to assist his son, he found his eyes much distorted, and his head leaning on the shoulder of Mrs. Philippe. Every effort was made to restore animation, but life was extinct. During this agonising scene, a servant girl entered the room from the nursery, and was instantly struck dead in the door-way by the same electric fluid, which had found no other means of escape.

Since the above was in type, we have received a letter from one of Mr. Philippe's afflicted family, an extract from which we give below:—

"On the evening of Thursday, the 13th, the thunder clouds assumed an angry appearance, and about half past 7 a severe storm commenced, gradually approaching the Kaga River, where it burst with great violence, so as to alarm the inhabitants much. It appeared to have passed over Malangle Kraal, where Mr. Thomas Philippe, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Philippe, and Mr. John Philippe, with the two children, had assembled in the sitting room. At 8 o'clock it returned with redoubled force; the party were breathing prayers for each other's safety, when the fluid, with a crash like the discharge of a cannon, struck the chimney of the sitting room, the main portion forcing its way violently through the lower part of the chimney into the passage, striking the servant, named Margaret McTurrish, who was in the act of opening the door to enter the sitting room, in the right shoulder, and passing out thro' her left side, leaving her a blackened corpse; again it turned through the passage and out at the kitchen door, partially stunning the beloved servants assembled there, and leaving a strong smell, as they say, of gunpowder.

"It appears that on coming through the chimney, a small portion of the fluid struck against an interior brick, which occasioned it to turn, skipping a couple of yards along the door-frame, and struck the opposite side, behind the sofa on which the party were seated, exactly like two musket balls, about 21 inches separate. It then recoiled, leaving a deep dent with a hollow like a nail, and entered between the shoulders of Mrs. F. Philippe, striking the dress out of Mrs. Philippe's arms, and so also describing occasioning a burning sensation on her limbs, and inflicting several skin-deep wounds on Mr. John Philippe. Mr. T. Philippe, who was luckily seated near the front door, alone escaped, and as he ran to support his son, and trying to rouse him, the poor fellow exclaimed "Jesus Christ!" twice, and expired without a mark or sign to show where the element had penetrated—but as his shoulders were not more than four inches from, and exactly opposite the recoil, it is supposed it must have entered there. He soon afterwards, however, became quite discolored. No metal in the house was injured, the candles not blown out, nor anything displaced, although it penetrated the apartment in five different places.

"A gentleman living on the neighbouring height describes the clouds as appearing to him a mass of fire, and suddenly it divided into six different streams of fire, all of which went in the direction of the Kaga River.

The candles were extinguished at Pollard's—but no damage done. A dog was killed by the fluid in front of Mr. Murray's house door at the same time."—G. T. Journal, March 20.

FRANCE—THE MINISTRY.

Ages reporter left the Chambers this afternoon, and brought to me the report of the proceedings this day, including the division (ballot) on the third paragraph of the address relating to Tahiti. His report showed that Ministers had [illegible] only [illegible] on the [illegible] point; and he stated that he left the Opposition loudly cheering.

"Immediately upon the division on the third paragraph, which gave Ministers a majority of eight, Marshal Soult presented (as my informant states) to the Tuileries, to take the King's commands. His Majesty would not break up the Cabinet, but authorised the Ministers should at once elicit the real intentions of the Chambers, and accordingly they have determined on bringing in to-morrow the Spanish Marriages Bill. Thus you will see, that however beaten they may have been on the paragraph respecting Tahiti, they are resolved to meet the Opposition on a question the decision upon which will vitally decide their fate.

"Up to the present time I have been telling you that Count Molé and the other distinguished gentlemen who aspire to office felt reluctance to unite. Little power did a vote that would bind them to a hostile attitude towards Great Britain. Here, then (if I be well informed), is precisely the species of question upon which they can without scruple meet, and, if they can, oust Ministers. On their side the present Ministers show independence and resolution in thus putting their popularity with the Chambers to the test. The King also will feel at his ease in adopting a new Ministry, should the present be defeated.

"You will, I am sure, excuse my entering upon a calculation of the chances of the respective parties in the coming struggle. I say the coming struggle, for neither can fairly assume to have been the victor at this moment.

"As my informant was, on the conclusion of the proceedings, passing through the salle des pas perdus, he heard M. Vigier, a Ministerial Deputy, declare that the Ministers were determined to remain in office. We shall see to-morrow whether they will put their Ministerial existence to a fair trial by introducing the Secret Service Money Bill."—Times, Jan. 29.

A RELICT OF THE REIGN OF TERROR.

The quarter adjoining the Faubourg St. Martin has just lost one of its celebrities in the person of an old chiffonnier, 79 years of age, named Peruchon, and nicknamed La Lanterne. The appellation he received from having been, during the first Revolution, one of the public executioners who [illegible] inspired suspicion to the first lamp-post. Peruchon was originally a turner by trade, and remarkable for strength and good looks. He became enamoured of Republican principles, and joined one of the clubs which committed such excesses during the early part of the Revolution. He afterwards succeeded in obtaining a certain influence over the Revolution, and it was at this period that a young girl belonging to a noble family visited him to obtain his intercession in favor of her parents, who were condemned to death. Peruchon reflected a few minutes, and said, "There is only one way to do it, and that is to become my wife. I shall take you home, and we shall get married at once." This abrupt announcement somewhat shocked the girl, but she at last consented, and her father and mother were saved. Her subsequent conduct did not, however, respond to this act of filial devotedness, for discovering by chance that a young gentlemen, formerly known to her, was in prison, she got him liberated through the interest of her husband, and afterwards ran away with him. They were discovered at Lyons three or four months after, and brought back to Paris, where Peruchon had them both beheaded. When the scenes of terror came to a conclusion, the executioner found his calling gone, and sank back to the condition he had quitted with, however, less inclination to work. He gave himself up to drink, and at last was forced to assume the chiffonnier's basket and crook to get a living. Whenever he had money he got drunk, and yet he was never sick. He wore a long white beard, and his great height was not to the last lessened. He scarcely ever spoke, and if by chance any one addressed him he looked as if he could stab him. He was a few days back found dead in his garret, lying on a heap of straw, and covered with an old tattered blanket.—Gallignani's Messenger.

Paarl, Feb. 18, 1845.

PARNS APERIENT PILLS.

THIS invaluable Medicine, which has attracted so much attention in England, as a means of prolonging human life, is recommended by the Proprietors for the cure of disorders incident to the East and West Indies, South America, and all countries where the rapid growth and equally rapid decay of vegetation, and the intense power of the Solar rays cause the atmosphere to be charged with miasmatic and other deleterious vapours, and its peculiar applicability to these climates, has been now perfectly tested and established. These disorders—viz., bilious, liver, and other complaints, incident to a derangement of the stomach and alimentary canal, which unavoidably exist in such countries, and which exhibit themselves by a variety of symptoms, including oppression of the head and chest, depression of spirits, and in many instances, by those painfully distressing concomitants, flatulency and spasms, and sporadic affections of the vital organs, have, in every instance, when tried been effectually remedied by this medicine.

Prepared by T. ROBERTS & Co., Strand Court, Fleet-street, London.

Sold by all Apothecaries in the Colony,—price 1s. 3d. and 3s. 9d. each box. Full directions are given with each box.
