What lies beneath the ANC?

Communist lies!

The South African Communist Party (SACP) and the ANC are two separate political organisations. The wolf and the sheep.

The ANC is an alliance of which the SACP is a part.

But the SACP has its own clear communist agenda. This states, "The ultimate aim of the party is the building of a communist society".

When the ANC published its list of candidates this year, the SACP called a press conference to announce that only 16 of the top 50 ANC candidates were communists. But this was a deliberate lie. It has now been revealed that in fact out of the top 50 ANC candidates, 25 are communists and 3 are former communists.

Why did the SACP lie about the number of their members on the ANC list? What were they trying to hide?

According to opinion polls the SACP has only 1% popular support. Were they to contest the Election alone they would get nowhere. So they simply hijacked the ANC. This was admitted by Chris Hani who said, "We in the Communist Party have... built the ANC. We have made the ANC what it is today and the ANC is our organisation."

Some people play down the threat of communism in South Africa. But judge for yourself.

SACP General Secretary, Charles Nqakula, has said, "the SACP has... a longer term perspective where it wants to transform this society into a socialist society."

Essop Pahad, 29th on the ANC candidates list, told the Sunday Times recently, "Sure I see myself promoting the socialisation of the means of production."

SACP Chairman, Joe Slovo, 4th on the ANC candidates list, has said, "when real socialism and then communism is achieved, there will be no private ownership of any of the means of production".

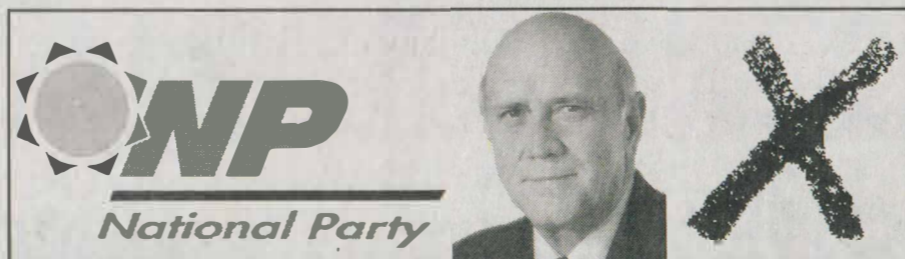

If you think this is mere 'rooi-gevaar' rhetoric, consider this. With 28 of the top 50 ANC candidates being present and former communists, the SACP could achieve their aims if the ANC is allowed to rule unchecked.

Communism not only failed in every country that tried it but also brought about extreme poverty and human misery. Don't let communists ruin South Africa too.

Don't waste your vote by giving it to a party which is too small to stop the SACP wolf. Vote for the only party which is strong enough and big enough to stand up to it.
