COLOSSEUM.

"Mission to Moscow," the picturisation of former Ambassador Joseph E. Davies' best-selling book, which has attracted capacity audiences to the Colosseum, is having an extended season at that theatre. The film is the author's report on the vital mission entrusted to him by President Roosevelt, and producers have brought it to the screen in a slice of living history. It is an eyewitness account of Russia during the author's years' stay in that country, when he where he pleased, saw what he pleased and became friends with high Soviet officials.

ALHAMBRA.

Will Hay's latest comedy, "Old Bones of the River," opens at the Alhambra Theatre tomorrow. Adapted from the famous stories of Edgar Wallace, Will Hay plays the role of Tibbetts, the uncle of Lt. (Bones) Tibbetts, who arrives in West Africa to take over the post of commissioner of an outpost where he has to educate savages, impersonates a forgettable Zulu god, bathes a six-months old baby, and quells a native rising single-handed—almost! Will Hay's handling of the situations in company with Graham Moffatt and Moore Marriott, is said to make for as serious predicaments as have ever graced a Will Hay comedy.

"Repeat" screenings of old successes on stage at the Alhambra as proving popular.
Will Hay's "repeat" will be "Yankee Doodle Boy" starring James Cagney.

PLAZA.

Thrills and suspense abound in a romance which introduces a striking new screen personality in M.G.M.'s "Assignment to Britain," now showing at the Plaza Theatre. It is the first American film appearance for Pierre Aumont, French star who at the beginning of the war figured in many battles and won the Croix de Guerre for bravery before the Nazis overran his country. Amid his adventures he escaped and made his way to America. Aumont plays a secret agent who ferrets out the location of a hidden Nazi marine base which the Commandos destroyed. Playing opposite him is Susan Peters, who recently clicked in "Random Harvest"

ODEON and CURZON.

The current attraction at the Odeon and Curzon Cinemas is providing pleasant entertainment and is of a light and hilarious type.
Paulette Goddard as a fortune-teller with Ray Milland as her willing victim in "The Crystal Ball" will run until next Tuesday.

On Wednesday, September 29th, the two theatres will show separate pictures, both of which are first Cape Town releases. At the Odeon Milton Berle, a famous columnist and outstanding comedian, appears in "Over my Dead Body," in which he is supported by Mary Beth Hughes. The Curzon presents the eagerly-awaited film "The Chetniks," starring Philip Dorn and Anna Sten. The picture presents in brilliant manner the fighting guerillas of Yugoslavia, and Philip Dorn gives an inspired performance as General Mihailovitch.

Z.A.S. Concert.

There was a large attendance at the Zionist Hall on Sunday evening, 19th inst., when the Zionist Association of Students presented a concert in aid of the Kurt Jonas Memorial Scholarship. The programme was varied and interesting and all the items were most enthusiastically received. A warm tribute must be paid to the talented artists who took part and to Miss Naomi Cohen, the organiser.

Owing to indisposition Miss Rachel Rabin-owitz, Miss Hilda Sacks and Mr. Harry Rabinowitz were unable to appear. Their places were taken by Misses Maisie Averbuch and Sylvia Shulman who rendered pianoforte solos and Mr. Abe Liff who gave two songs.
The remainder of the programme consisted of items by a trio with Miss Sara Gordon (piano), Mr. Augustus Levy (violin) and Miss Helen Keen (cello), dances by Miss Anita Rabinowitz and pupils of the Elvira Kirsch Studio, songs by Miss Girda Trop, recitations in Hebrew and English by Miss Frieda Astrinsky and monologues by Miss Audrey Pearce. The programme concluded with an amusing sketch, "The Bride," ably produced by Miss Freda Kahn, in which the Misses Beryl Joffe, Audrey Pearce, Francis Meyer, Thelma Berelowitz, Donna Levy and Miss Freda Lewis took part.

The Kurt Jonas Scholarship Fund should benefit considerably as a result of this fine effort.
