Forthcoming Concert at Muizenberg.

Following the unqualified success of the last concert, and in order to satisfy those who were unable to attend, Harry Rabinowitz is presenting another concert of Jewish music at the Muizenberg Pavilion on Monday night, 12th March. In addition to Harry Rabinowitz himself and Vera Poppe, who appeared so successfully on the previous occasion, an instrumental sextet composed of members from the South African Opera Company, under the direction of Prof. Plaut of the Royal Opera, Stockholm, will be heard in Jewish music. Mr. Asher, who needs no introduction to Muizenberg audiences, will render his own humorous Jewish monologues, and the talented Klugman will appear in Jewish songs and dances. The public is urged to book early in order to avoid disappointment.

ODEON and CURZON.

Nearly six decades ago the East End of London was startled and then terrified by a series of apparently motiveless murders which baffled the police and seriously perturbed the whole of the country. Mrs. Belloc Lowndes based her book on the Ripper murders called "Jack the Ripper" on this film which is now showing at the Odeon and Curzon to packed houses. Laird Cregar plays the part of "Jack the Ripper," a demented scientist, with outstanding success. He is ably supported by George Sanders, Sara Allgood and Merle Haggard, with George Sanders as the police inspector in charge of the mystery.

picture is to continue for a further week. The next attraction is a new re-issue of "The Merry Widow," M.G.M.'s musical operetta with those great favourites Jeanette MacDonald and Maurice Chevalier. The long-continued success, both on stage and screen, of this musical treat is due not only to its delightful music but also to its pleasing romance, famous waltz tune and beautiful and lavish production.

ALHAMBRA.

Bio-vaudeville will be presented at the Alhambra Theatre to-morrow and Saturday evenings only. The first half of the programme will comprise "The Army Aces of Variety," headed by the Adagio Aces, David Menton, vocalist, Harry Gerton, instrumentalist, Billy Slayton and Elsabe Roy in comedy and song, as well as several other entertainers. The film attraction is "Her Primitive Man," a comedy headed by a cast that includes Robert Benchley, Edward Everett Horton and Helen Broderick.

COLOSSEUM.

Love, laughter and music are combined against a background of a U.S. Army camp and New York night spots to make "Seven Days' Leave" one of the best entertainment hits of the season. It opens at the Colosseum soon, starring Victor Mature and Lucille Ball in the romantic leads. Music is supplied by the Freddy Martin and Les Brown bands and specialty acts presented by Mapy Cortes, Ginny Simms, Marcy McGuire, Ralph Edwards and Charles Victor.
