28th Anniversary of the U.S.S.R.

he S.A. Friends of the Soviet Union are nging the celebration of the 28th Anniversary he U.S.S.R. with an evening of music, ballet, short addresses at the City Hall, Cape Town, 7th November, at 8.15 p.m.

his evening which will be under the patronage Mr. S. G. Bratchikov, the Consular-Agent for U.S.S.R., will be composed of music by the Town Municipal Orchestra under the direc- of Dr. W. J. Pickerill, and a violin solo— enade Melancolique"—Tschaikowsky, by Ralph rland. Russian songs will be rendered by Godby and the University Ballet are pre- ing "Pliaska" arranged by Dulcie Howes— and costumes by John Dronsfield.

very effort is being made to make this year's rsary celebration an appropriate and con- e form of admiration of the Red Army and et people, and the total proceeds of this func- will therefore be donated to a fund for the nstruction of a hospital in Stalingrad.

ickets are 10s., 7s. 6d., 5s. and 2s. 6d., and now obtainable at Darters.

living newspaper, "The Wizo Times," was lished by the literary section of the Paarl Wizo up, at the residence of Mrs. R. Shapiro, on nday evening of last week, and a large number members were present at its publication.

he convener of the section, Mrs. Fanny Levin- n, acted as editor. The cable page was ably piled by Mrs. M. Bach, Jr., the news com- tary by Mr. Barnet Zetler was most compre- sive, and the musical page consisted of piano song recitals, by Miss Sylvia Faktor and Mrs. iam Bloom. Mrs. Hilda Volks convulsed the dience with her novel fashion and personal m, whilst Miss Ruth Blumberg very ably and erly replied to "letters to the editor." Mr. h Levinsohn was in charge of the "Jewish s," and the final page was devoted to the ldren's corner, with the following young girls ng part: the Misses Miriam and Lucille Kaplan, y Friedman, Marlene Sutton and Naomi Moffhe hostesses were Mrs. R. Shapiro, Mrs. H. ks, Mrs. S. Meazroch and Mrs. S. Segal.

COLOSSEUM.

"Together Again," starring Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer with Charles Coburn, comes to the Colosseum Theatre on Monday, and is described as the stars' most exciting and hilarious love affair. The film tells the story of a small-town woman mayor who through the purchase of a giddy hat and the attention of a sophisticated sculptor, forgets about her deceased husband for the joys of living.

PLAZA.

Van Johnson, the popular young star, and lovely Esther Williams are co-starred in M.G.M.'s new Technicolor musical treat, "Thrill of a Romance," which opens on Friday at the Plaza. This is a musical romance that looks on the bright side and is full of wonderful music with just the right amount of popular numbers. One of the highlights is the first appearance of Lauritzy Melchior, formerly of Covent Garden fame and now the leading tenor in New York's opera world. The scenes are said to excel "Bathing Beauty" and the cast abounds with talent.

ALHAMBRA.

The Munro-Inglis Company open their season at the Alhambra Theatre on Thursday night next with Ivor Novello's rollicking comedy, "Full House"—one of the author's most sophisticated yet most human farces. The story is set in a respectable London suburb where Frynne Rodney keeps house with her sister Lola, an ex-actress who believes herself to be an invalid, and her brother, on the strength of a beauty parlour, decides to turn her house into a gambling den. The events which follow move with dramatic and humorous rapidity. Some beautiful clothes are worn by the women in the cast and the furniture and sets were specially designed. The company arrives in Cape Town on Wednesday morning.
