The Cinema

Thousands have cheered M.G.M.'s masterpiece of the same name which is now in its second week at the Metro. The film is built up along the same lines as "Stare Door Canteen" and "Star Spangled Rhythm"—and is as, if not more, enjoyable. There is a good story as well, and here Kathryn Grayson (who sings beautifully), John Boles, Gene Kelly and Mary Astor are featured.

"Heaven Can Wait" is the film at the 20th Century. The story is unusual. Don Ameche and Gene Tierney are successfully co-starred for the first time, and the result is an excellent film.

What is described as "the best musical show seen in Johannesburg for many years," is "Maid of the Mountains." It has been produced by Philip D. Levard, and is being performed by the Johannesburg Operatic Society in collaboration with African Consolidated Theatres, Limited. Here is an opportunity that no one should miss. At the Empire.

"The Night Has Eyes," at the Plaza, is the strange story of the madman of the Yorkshire moors. It features James Mason, star of "The Man in Grey." It is one of those films that will keep you in suspense from the very first minute. An entertaining show!

PNINA SALTZMAN PLAYS WITH ORCHESTRA
Concert for Palestine Orchestra and Habimah

Pnina Saltzman has appeared on numerous occasions with the Palestine Symphony Orchestra. On Sunday night, Johannesburg music-lovers filled the Metro Theatre to capacity to hear this great artist in her first orchestral concert in this city, a concert arranged by her own wish, and with the co-operation of Alex. Cherniavsky, in aid of the Palestine Orchestra and the Habimah Theatre.

Two well-known and melodious concertos—the Grieg in A Minor and the Tchaikowsky in B Flat Minor—afforded Pnina Saltzman ample opportunity for demonstrating once again her many gifts as a pianist. A most sensitive musician, she brought to her performance of the Tchaikowsky concerto the force and power necessary to emphasise the joyous vigour and vitality of the first movement without falling into the danger of over-exuberance or assertiveness. The Johannesburg Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Mr. J. Traunek, had by this time settled down into its stride and gave her admirable support—a support more satisfying than in the Grieg concerto, where several passages were somewhat marred by the unevenness of the orchestral playing.

A Mendelssohn overture, "Ruy Blas," and the Andante Pastorale from Mahler's Second Symphony, were presented by the orchestra and formed pleasant interludes between the major works.

Mrs. Mary Goldfoot, on behalf of the South African Friends of the Palestine Orchestra and Habimah, warmly thanked Pnina Saltzman, the Johannesburg Symphony Orchestra and Mr. Traunek for their fine concert.

"Tunisian Victory," the film you have all been waiting for, and one which is considered this year's greatest film scoop, is now showing at the Colosseum. The film is an accurate picture of the Tunisian campaign, and will reveal the facts as they have never been known before.
