

Malombos aim at big time with LP

MALOMBO Jazz have released their first long playing record — just two weeks before their big show at Curries Fountain, Durban on Boxing Day.

The LP is recorded under "Third Ear" label and is done in true Malombo tradition.

The drums are haunting and the flute's sweet tunes blends with the racy rhythm of the guitar. Together they form an original sound — the sound that has made this trio the rave of the jazz scene.

Now they are out to hit the big time. The Malombo's have made their debut on British television. Their big show at Curries Fountain will also be televised for showing in England.

This is the second of a series of 12 proposed shows to be televised before the group hits the international scene.

Top groups from the Transvaal and Natal have been billed to provide the supporting cast in the marathon 14-hour show.
