

Roger's rebellious attitude led him to four different high schools. But none of them had the sort of thing he wanted — something in the arts.