

SELECTED PUBLICITY EXCERPTS

PLAYING tropical summer sounds in the Drama theatre on Friday will be (back) Joe Delew and Shelley Hind, (in front) Dan Chiorboli and Demi Fernandes.

Tropical sounds of Latin summer

TONIGHT Reporter

A BLEND of Latin, flamenco and lambada music can be heard in the lunch-time concert Tropical Summer Sounds, to be presented in the Drama theatre of the Natal Playhouse on Friday.

The players are percussionist Dan Chiorboli, vocalist Shelly Hind and keyboard player Joe Delew, who all appeared in Sounds of Brazil at the Cellar two years ago, and flamenco guitarist Demi Fernandes.

"We created a new sound for this lunch-hour concert," said Chiorboli, who played percussion on Ladysmith Black Mambazo's latest album. The new sounds can also be heard on the group's second album Wot A Time, to be released later this year.