"IMIZWILILI"

"Imizwilili" is the Zulu word for songbirds. It is an appropriate name for our flute quartet, for idiomatically it describes a high-voiced person who sings well.

Lara Allen (flute)
Jessica Ramsden (violin)
Brendan Smit (viola)
Fiona Paul (cello)

The four young professionals who make up the "Imizwilili Quartet" are past or present students of the music department at the University of Natal, and have been playing together for the past four years.

We are available to play at weddings, art exhibition openings, banquets and other festive occasions, always adding distinction to that special event. In order to create the most appropriate ambience, we select specific music for each individual occasion from our large and varied repertoire.
