

Capetown Notes.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The late Mr. Hyman Liberman, a former Mayor of Cape Town, always had in mind the beautifying of the mother City, and in his will expressed the wish that certain money left by him should be set aside for the erection of an Arch at the top of Adderley Street, at the entrance to the Government Avenue.

A scheme of improvements in Adderley Street has been under consideration by the Minister of Public Works (Mr. Boydell) and which included the setting back of the Old Supreme Court Buildings.

It occurred to the Minister that in the setting back of the Old Supreme Court Building it would be a good thing to unite the two schemes

He therefore discussed the matter with the co-trustees of the Liberman Estate, together with Mayor Verster, and it has been decided to push forward the Arch scheme at the same time as the Old Supreme Court alterations.

It has been suggested that the Arch should be a triple one, with an opening on the left leading into the Parliament House, a central arch which could be beautified with a fountain and flowers, and a third arch on the right leading into the Avenue.

The erection of the Arches has been eagerly anticipated by the Citizens of Cape Town, and the present picturesque Avenue will be greatly enhanced by the proposed Arches, which will also be the means of perpetuating the memory of one of the Cape Town's foremost citizens.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Great Synagogue Gardens, on Sunday, the contracting parties being Miss Janie Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Beck of Cape Town, and Isaac Ospovat, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ospovat, also of Cape Town.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. P. Bender, assisted by Rev. Kirschner.

The Bride, who was given away by her father, made a charming picture in a gorgeous gown of white georgette, the skirt of which was beautifully designed in silver beads. From each shoulder hung a band of georgette, caught to the side with a silver buckle, and continued to the hem of the skirt with thick fringes of silver beads. She wore a pretty coronet of silver leaves and orange blossoms, and her beautiful veil was exquisitely embroidered. She carried a lovely shower bouquet.

The two bridesmaids were Miss Jenny Ospovat and Miss Becky Phillips. Both looked very charming in their dainty frocks of rose and jade georgette respectively, which were artistically designed with silver beads and very narrow silver ribbons. The six panels which composed the skirt were joined to the bodice with rows of smocking. They wore very pretty picture hats of black tulle trimmed with narrow silver ribbons, and both carried bouquets of pink carnations and ferns.

The unterfuhrers were Mr. and Mrs. L. Beck and Mr. and Mrs. H. Ospovat. Mrs. Beck wore a smart frock of black satin trimmed with black silk fringe; and Mrs. Ospovat was very stately in black charmeuse with black bugle beads and ostrich feather trimmings. Each carried a shower bouquet.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Goede Trouw Hall, where Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Ospovat, together with the Bride and Bridegroom's parents received the hearty felicitations of numerous guests.

During the reception the toast of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by Councillor L. Gradner, and the toast of the Unterfuhrers by Mr. A. Aronson.

After the reception dancing was indulged in to the strains of Zabow's Orchestra.

Many pretty dresses were worn and mention must be made of that worn by Mrs. Phillips, sister of the Bride, who looked smart in a frock of black marocain designed with white beads. Mrs. Gradner was charming in a gown of black satin designed in red and white beads. Miss Gertie Beck wore a beautiful black satin frock, which had a loose panel of peacock blue brocaded satin in the front. Miss Bessie Stein looked smart in black charmeuse with a pink gardenia on the shoulder. Mrs. Gordon wore a pretty black marocain tunic frock designed with red beads. Mrs. B. Lerner looked stately in a smart frock of black embossed morocain trimmed with spanish lace and red sequins. Miss Lerner was very charming in a dainty frock of mauve georgette trimmed with fur and embossed in silver flowers. Miss B. Leibowitz looked smart in a frock of black satin with a flared skirt and a scarf of black satin trimmed with an oriental tassel, and long tight sleeves.

Miss F. Leibowitz was chic in a black marocain frock accordin pleated in the sides and trimmed with tiny oriental buttons. Miss Hyman's mauve georgette frock was exquisitely designed in coloured beads. Miss S. Reitstein wore a pretty black crepe de chine frock accordin pleated, and a white gardenia on the shoulder. Miss Fiddel looked smart in a frock of pink stockinette, with a double skirt and oriental trimmings. Miss Berman was dainty in black satin trimmed with heavy silk black fringe round the hem, and embossed with sequins of black and gold. A very pretty frock was worn by Miss A. Silansky of black and golden brown georgette heavily designed in black beads.

The young couple are spending their honeymoon in the Peninsula.

The Bride's going away dress was of black and white marocain trimmed with white fur, and she wore a pretty little cylinder hat of black and white to match.

A book has been written by Dr. Mordecai Soltes on the Americanizing influence of the Yiddish press. Professor Suedden, Columbia University, declares it is the best book on the educational functions of the newspaper. As the late Joseph Jacobs would have said, that is a cause for Jew-hatred. If we only did not excel, we would be forgiven sooner.
