THE ALHAMBRA.

"Seed."

It is hardly conceivable to the public that John Boles could successfully "star" in a picture without using his wonderful singing voice, and yet his dramatic performance in "Seed," showing at the Alhambra next week, brings him to light in an entirely new role. Clever actor as he always was in past musical productions, and loved by all film fans for his melodious voice, his popularity will be even greater for his performance in "Seed" marks him as probably the greatest screen artist of to-day. The film is described as a challenge to women in love, and the story is adapted from Charles G. Norris's book of the same name. The story throws a new light on the age-old problem of the "eternal triangle." John Boles plays the part of the husband, while Lois Wilson's magnificent performance as the wife will astound everyone. Genevieve Tobin is the "other woman," and five small children, ranging in age from three to ten years, take parts with remarkable intelligence. Absorbing to the utmost degree, "Seed" will move the emotions of every patron at the Alhambra next week.

THE ADELPHI.

"The Spoilers."

The screen's all-talking presentation of Rex Beach's renowned story "The Spoilers" comes to the Adelphi Theatre on Monday next.

The cast is headed by Gary Cooper, supported by Kay Johnson, Betty Compson, William Boyd, Harry Green, Slim Summerville, James Kirkwood, etc. The story is a thrilling and absorbing one, and patrons are ensured of an enjoyable evening. The acting is in every way superb.

THE ROYAL.

"A Notorious Affair."

A real South African-born film star will be seen on the local screen next week when Basil Rathbone appears in "A Notorious Affair," an adaptation of the English play "Fame." Basil Rathbone, who was born in Johannesburg in 1896, has long been a prominent personality on the American silent and talking picture screen, and his numerous successes have earned him an international reputation. At the Royal next week he will be seen in such a character when he appears as Paul Gerhardi, a talented musician, who when fame comes to him, leaves his wife for another woman. The wife is played by Billie Dove, regarded as one of the most attractive actresses on the screen, while the other woman is played by Kay Francis. "A Notorious Affair" is an English story, and, apart from Miss Dove and Kay Francis, the artists appearing are British. Added to this is the essentially British scenery and the charm of the story.

THE GRAND.

Beautiful Music in "Devil-May-Care."

"Devil-May-Care," Ramon Novarro's first all-talking musical romance, will open at the Grand on Monday next.

The new picture, adapted from the French drama, "La Bataille des Dames," is laid in the historic period of Napoleon's exile, and concerns the adventures of one Armand, played by Novarro, who, as a lieutenant of the deposed Emperor, has an exciting time keeping out of the hands of Royalists, and at the same time winning one of the most beautiful feminine members of the group.

Novarro's voice records perfectly, and his magnificent singing of some unusually beautiful songs is an outstanding feature of the production. Supporting him are Dorothy Jordan, fresh from Broadway musical successes, Marion Harris, famous as the "blues" singer, and a large cast of singers and dancers.
