Mr. L. Zadikoff Honoured

NAME INSCRIBED IN GOLDEN BOOK

AT a recent meeting of the Jewish National Fund Committee which was also attended by the S.A. Zionist Youth Council, there was a pleasant little ceremony when Mrs. Katie Gluckmann handed a Certificate of Inscription in the Golden Book to Mr. L. Zadikoff, who has probably inscribed more than 50,000 tree certificates during his long association with the Jewish National Fund Office.

This honorary work deserves some recognition, said Mrs. Gluckmann, and it was her privilege to hand Mr. Zadikoff his certificate.

Mr. J. Daleski associated himself with the tribute on behalf of the Youth Council, and Mr. Harry Levin spoke on behalf of the Head Office of the Jewish National Fund in Jerusalem.

In returning thanks Mr. Zadikoff expressed his gratitude for the honour, and said that the certificate would be handed down by him to future generations as one of the greatest honours which could be conferred upon a Jew.

A "Monte Carlo" Evening at Worcester

The Wizo at Worcester recently held a successful "Monte Carlo" evening in the Zionist Hall. The large gathering enthusiastically crowded round the various stalls, the vendors of which had spared no pains in attracting customers. The peak of the evening was reached when a troupe of singing "chefs" moved through the crowd offering "hot dogs" for sale. The sum of £40 was raised.

"Counsellor-at-Law" Produced by Repertory Players

"Counsellor-at-Law" is one of Elmer Rice's best-known plays. It is a clever study in human character, with a good plot and fast moving action.

The presentation of this play by the Repertory Players last week was on the whole good, despite certain weaknesses, and was thoroughly enjoyed by those who saw it. The production was in the hands of Minna Schneier, who must be congratulated on her achievement. The cast included Sydney Witkin, who gave an excellent performance as the counsellor, Doreen Hamshaw, whose portrayal of the secretary left little to be desired, Eileen Goudvis as Cora, Maurice Opert, Joan Jacoby, and Joyce Marcuson.

A CONCERT ON 9th NOVEMBER

In Support of "Medical Aid for Russia"

Some of the most distinguished artists in South Africa will appear at a concert of Russian music to be given in the Colosseum Theatre on Sunday, November 9, in support of "Medical Aid for Russia." They will perform as soloists as well as in trio and quintet combination, and it is hoped also to have a balalaika orchestra. Among those who have already consented to appear are Mr. Isador Epstein, the pianist, Mr. Gerald Cassen, the singer, and Mr. Michael Dore, the violinist.

Mrs. Israel Kuper, who is convener of the concert, has an energetic committee of the most enthusiastic workers in Johannesburg to assist her. They include Mrs. I. J. Balkin, Mrs. C. W. Biccard Jeppe, Mrs. P. Bloom, Mrs. S. Schneier, Mrs. R. Feldman, Mrs. M. London, Mrs. Bernard Friedman, Mrs. I. Glyn Thomas, Mrs. J. H. L. Manisty, Mrs. S. Furman, Mrs. J. Zidel, Mrs. Ray Katz, Mrs. O. Larsen, Mrs. L. Berman, and Mrs. M. Paddon.

A Successful Succoth Function

A well attended Succoth Social was held under the auspices of the Histruth Ivrit on Wednesday, 8th October, at the Coronation Hall.

Mr. M. Lazar was in the chair and spoke at length on the life and achievements of Ussishkin and Brandeis, of whom the Jewish people had been bereaved during the last fortnight. Messrs. W. Rybko and Z. Infeld spoke on Succoth.

Miss Freda Marcus and Rev. Klaff, of Boksburg, rendered songs in Hebrew, which were much appreciated. After the interval, community singing and dancing took place.

"Dance, Girl, Dance" at Standard

The attraction at the Standard this week is "Dance, Girl, Dance." Vicki Baum's story tells of the romantic and professional jealousy which exists between two chorus girls, Maureen O'Hara and her partner, Lucille Ball, who are both intrigued by a wealthy divorcee, Louis Hayward. The root of the trouble is also the cause of many amusing and dramatic incidents. So full of laughter and bright episodes is this film that it will no doubt play to crowded houses.

A Hardy Family Film at Metro

The Hardy pictures continue to be as popular as ever, and the latest one, now showing at the Metro, is well up to the usual standard. Called "Life Begins For Andy Hardy," it features the same combination of stars—Lewis Stone, Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland and Fay Holden—who have helped to make the series the outstanding success it is. All of them give first-rate performances and make this Hardy film excellent entertainment.

"Mutiny in the Arctic" at Plaza

A bleak and lonely corner of the world, the frozen north, is the setting for the latest Richard Arlen-Andy Devine adventure picture, "Mutiny in the Arctic" now showing at the Plaza. Dick and Andy are shown as American adventurers who set out to find a field of pitchblende in the Arctic. Too late they learn that the first and second officers of the ship they have chartered are after the same thing—and not scrupulous about how they get it. Ann Nagle furnishes the romantic interest and other supporting roles are ably filled by Don Terry, Addison Richards, Oscar O'Shea, Harry Cording and John Rogers.

"The Wagons Roll at Night" at Empire

A thousand thrills will be experienced by audiences who see the Empire Theatre's new attraction, "The Wagons Roll at Night," a screen drama filled with action, excitement and human emotion. The film stars Humphrey Bogart, Eddie Albert, and Sylvia Sydney, who makes a welcome return to the screen after a year. The film tells the strange story of a group of people who live on wheels, nomads of the night, living by their own strange code.

"Pimpernel Smith" at Colosseum

"Pimpernel Smith" a spectacular, romantic comedy melodrama, describing the thrilling exploits of a whimsical university professor who, in the face of tireless and terrifying opposition secretly plans and executes the escape of political prisoners from the Gestapo, is the next attraction at the Colosseum. Leslie Howard plays the title role with artistry and a faultless sense of character. The technical presentation, under Leslie Howard's direction and production, is also almost perfect. This is a picture which will thrill cinema-goers.
