SCHOLARSHIP FUND ESTABLISHED AT LONDON ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC

TO perpetuate the name of Pilot-Officer David Carl Taylor, R.A.F., Volunteer Reserve, who was killed in an aircraft accident in England some time ago, a Memorial Scholarship Fund is to be established at the Royal Academy of Music, London, where this young airman was professor of the violin before volunteering for the R.A.F.

AN ex-South African, Pilot-Officer Taylor was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Taylor, of Johannesburg, and was educated at the Parktown Boys' High School. He early revealed considerable talent as a violinist, and left South Africa as the winner of the Overseas Scholarship for the Royal Academy of Music, where he was elected professor.

In London's concert life he soon distinguished himself as a most outstanding violinist with promise of a future even more brilliant than his present. On his death high tributes were paid to his musical achievements, character and devotion to his country by those who had known and worked with him.

He was buried with full service honours in England, the funeral being attended by a very large gathering of mourners, with South Africa duly represented. In his tribute to the fallen officer, the chaplain wrote: "His passing touched us all in a way I have not seen or experienced. . . ."

Tributes and expressions of sympathy at the funeral were received from the King and Queen, the Staff of the Royal Academy of Music, many well-known orchestras and the Principal, Staff and Old Boys of Parktown Boys' High School, Johannesburg.

Dr. Stanley Marchant, Principal of the Royal Academy of Music, London, in paying tribute to his former colleague through the columns of the London "Daily Telegraph," wrote as follows:

"I should like to pay tribute to the memory of David Carl Taylor who, after a distinguished career as a student, became professor of the violin at the Royal Academy and leader of the Jacques String Orchestra. His untimely death has removed not only a violinist of great ability, but a man of sterling character who was respected and beloved by all his colleagues."

MAJOR GERALD M. FOX VISITS PALESTINE

IN a letter recently written from "up North," and addressed to Dr. Louis Franklin Freed, Major Gerald M. Fox, a Johannesburg doctor now attached to the S.A.M.C., has this to say of Palestine:

"I've managed two trips to Palestine. Both gave me intense pleasure and a glimpse into Utopia. The social experiments there are amazingly successful—not only from a Jewish point of view. So much has been achieved in so little time and under such distressing conditions. I shall tell you more about it under more favourable circumstances, but I was thrilled and enthralled."
