AN army may march on its stomach, but it sleeps under blankets just like everyone else.
In the case of our own army, and many divisions of Allied armies, the men are sleeping under the best blankets made in South Africa—Waverley.
The strain of keeping up the supply is enormous and means that there are fewer blankets available for the public. We know that this is disappointing to thousands of housewives, but we ask their indulgence until Victory is assured.
