Lionel Bowman at City Hall.

Lionel Bowman received a great ovation from the very large audience present at the City Hall on Sunday night when he played Tschaikowski's Piano Concerto in B Flat Major with the Cape Town Orchestra, under the directorship of Dr. W. J. Pickerill. His performance was outstanding and he was recalled again and again.

ODEON.

On Wednesday, 10th March, the Odeon Theatre, Sea Point, will present United Artists' "King of the Turf." This film is the story of a racehorse owner whose horse loses race after race and consequently he takes to drinking. When, however, he meets up with a young and keen jockey who tries to reform him and encourages him, he buys a new horse for two dollars at an auction. His luck turns immediately. The leading players in this melodrama are Adolphe Menjou, Walter Abel and the beautiful Dolores Costello.

CURZON.

The Curzon Theatre will show as from Wednesday, 10th March, United Artists' "New Wine," starring Illona Massey and Alan Curtis as Franz Schubert. This picture tells the story of the great musician's romantic interlude in his very young days when he was forced to flee from his home town Vienna to Hungary. Miss Massey sings Beethoven's "Appassionata." Other features are Schubert's "Ave Maria," "Impatience," the sprightly "Marche Militaire" and his immortal "Serenade."

PLAZA.

"Grand Central Murder," now showing at the Plaza, provides above-average screen fare in a narrative packed with suspense and punch-filled episodes. Van Heflin plays a leading role. He will be remembered for his fine performance as Robert Taylor's pal in "Johnny Eager." He is brilliant as the wise-cracking young sleuth in this new M.G.M. mystery drama. His pace and timing are just about perfect as he unravels a most complicated crime plot.

ALHAMBRA.

"The Face Behind the Mask," a thrilling new Columbia film, opening to-morrow at the Alhambra Theatre, presents Peter Lorre in one of the weirdest roles the famous star has ever portrayed. Lorre appears as a naive immigrant who is gradually transformed into a monstrous, cold-blooded killer after a tragic accident mutilates his face. Evelyn Keyes, Don Beddoe and George E. Stone are also in the cast.

COLOSSEUM.

The portrait of a woman who would cheat, lie, steal and even murder to gain her own ends is shown by Bette Davis in her new film, "In This Our Life," which commences at the Colosseum soon. Betty's gallery of "minxes" is enhanced by her acting in this film, taken from Ellen Glasgow's popular novel. Olivia de Havilland, George Brent and Dennis Morgan are also in a memorable cast.

ROYAL.

Fascinating as always, Norma Shearer has Robert Taylor as her co-star in "Her Cardboard Lover," which opens on Monday at the Royal Theatre. The story relates the ludicrous adventures of a charming girl who endeavours to elude the man she loves by accepting the attention of another who adores her. Complications develop fast and furiously and there is much laughter throughout.
