PLAZA.

There is every indication that "Pride and Prejudice" with Greer Garson and Laurence Olivier in leading parts will repeat its original success at the Plaza. One of the season's most notable supporting casts is featured in the film. "Laurel and Hardy" in "Nothing but Trouble" is to bring laughs to Plaza audiences at an early hour.

ODEON and CURZON

"The Way Ahead" has fully justified the crowded houses at both the Odeon and Curzon in the last week. out its humorous moments, but its realism makes it one of the finest films made in British studios. The cast includes actors with established reputations, but pride of place must be given to David Niven, Billy Hartnell, Stanley Holloway and Bromley Davenport.

COLOSSEUM.

"The Drum," which opens at the Colosseum on Monday has without doubt all the ingredients of great entertainment. A stirring story by A. E. W. Mason of the North-West frontier in the Kipling manner, excitement to appeal to audiences of all ages, bright colours to compensate for the lack of travel in wartime, and a magnificent cast headed by Sabu, whose career from elephant boy to popular star is one of the real romances of the films.

ROYAL.

The next attraction at the Royal is "Dragon Seed," which opens on Monday. It is based on the celebrated novel by Pearl Buck, author also of "The Good Earth." It is a story of love and devotion, with Katharine Hepburn in the leading role, supported by Walter Huston, Aline MacMahon, Akim Tamiroff, Turban Bey, Hurd Hatfield and many others.
