ALHAMBRA.

The "Prep Show of 1945" which opens at the Alhambra Theatre on Friday, July 13th, has much more to delight theatre-goers. One of the outstanding scenes of this exhilarating revue is the "Big Shop" which brings to life no less than 20 famous music-hall favourites, singing and dancing the numbers that made them world famous.

IVAN BEROLD.

Ivan Berold sings three of these tunes, "Jolly Good Luck to the Girl who Loves a Soldier," "Her Golden Hair was hanging down her back" and "Hooray for the Boom-de-ay," while Neil McKay contributes "I Love a Lassie," "Lily of Laguna" and "Beef and Carrots." Ivan Berold sings "You should see me dance the Polka," "Annie Rooney" and "I do like to be beside the Sea." Faith de Villiers, who will be remembered for her work in "Cinderella," is again ballet mistress for this new revue, which includes two very attractive ballets. The music will be under the direction of Cecil White.

COLOSSEUM.

"Fanny by Gaslight" opens at the Colosseum on Monday. This is a Gainsborough picture and stars Phyllis Calvert, James Mason, Stewart Granger and Wilfred Lawson. It is adapted from the best seller by Michael Sadleir which has a box office figure approaching 80,000. It has also been a success in America and Sweden. The background of this film is bawdy London of the gas-lit and hansom cab era. This was the period of the hustle and the dress fitting smoothly over the hips. The action of the picture ranges from the sumptuous Islington to Belgrave Square, from the Supper Rooms in Covent Garden to tourist attractions in Paris. "Fanny by Gaslight" reveals the seamy side of Queen Victoria's London, a picture new to the screen.

PLAZA.

"National Velvet," starring Mickey Rooney and Elizabeth Taylor, is an absorbing, human story of a boy, a girl and a horse. You will thrill to the greatest climax you've ever witnessed in a motion picture: the running of the Grand National race. Produced in gorgeous technicolor, the strong supporting cast includes Jackie Jenkins, Donald Crisp, Anne Revere, Reginald Owen and Arthur Treacher. "National Velvet" is a picture the entire family will love.
