A Great Musical Occasion

IT is an irony of fate that Georges Themeli, the man whose world will always be dark, should give so much light to others. For one cannot help associating brilliant playing with radiance and sunshine.

On Wednesday night he opened his concert with the well-known Mozart Sonata in A major, performing the variations with a lightness and delicacy of touch in contrast to the strength and energy of the "Alla Turca."

The highlight of the evening was the Waldstein Sonata, a Titanic work, which Themeli played with orchestral effect. The opening movement commenced with a brilliance which put the performer in the front rank of pianists. The adagio movement was played with a cello-like clarity and sweetness. The last movement was magnificent.

The artist did full justice to one of Beethoven's greatest Sonata movements, which he played with a passion and understanding that created a deep impression upon the audience.

The graceful and delicate Valse Oublie of Liszt opened the second half of the programme, followed by Liszt's Funerailles, a brilliant performance displaying to the full the artist's amazing technique and strength.

Themeli also played three Chopin Etudes, a Nocturne and the A flat Polonaise. His gradation of tone and control in pianissimo came out here to very striking advantage.

Perhaps one of the most beautiful renditions of the whole evening was Chopin's Berceuse played as an encore. In it the artist displayed a silken smoothness and a crystal clarity that enraptured the listeners.

One felt that the great homage Johannesburg music lovers paid to Themeli was due as much to the artist as to the great man who conquered a cruel affliction of nature and achieved a triumph rarely vouchsafed to any mortal.
