

Large quantities of supplies of all kinds are still arriving daily for the Commissariat; but we believe that the Commando will not be delayed by the non arrival of stores, which may at any time hereafter follow on the line of march.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE.

FRIDAY, 3 o'clock.—Important intelligence has just been received from the Rev. Mr. Brownlee, now residing on the Buffalo River, and from the Rev. Mr. Ayliff, who is still continuing in the territory of Hintza. Both these communications go decidedly to implicate that Chief in the present invasion of the colony. The former gentleman states that his situation is extremely precarious,—that the whole of the country around him is in great commotion,—and that herds of cattle are frequently passing the Kei into Hintza's territory. Tyali is said to be in a state of considerable despondency, but Macomo is still breathing out "threatenings and slaughter."

Original Correspondence.

TO THE EDITOR OF "DE ZUID-AFRIKAAN."

"The murders of which the Colonial Government prate so fluently, are to be found only on the lips of LYING men, or in the imaginations of the timid COCKNEYS and PIN-MARKERS, who shrink from the bold eyes of a NATURAL MAN."

COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER, July 4, 1829.

LETTER III.

Graham's Town, Feb. 13.

SIR,—Last week the proceedings of the Tourists, Dr. Philip, the Rev. Mr. Read, and Mr. John Fairbairn, Editor of the Advertiser, were brought down to the period at which the Caffers returned to their own country to announce the approach of a great political commissioner from the King of England.

Dr. Philip having obtained for the Hottentots a full emancipation from those restraints which the Vagrant Law still imposes upon the white inhabitants, would naturally hurry to the Kat River settlement, to preach the doctrine of peace, and to allay the irritation which his high wrought description of their sufferings had unavoidably produced in the Hottentots. So good men may think, and so Dr. Philip may tell them when he publishes another Volume of "Researches" for their information. But the facts of the case are, nevertheless, such as I shall now state, and such as I am prepared to prove them, whenever the Rev. gentleman, or his admiring congregation, may feel that the interests of religion require that its teachers should be divested of the character of privileged calculators, and of itinerant orators, who delight in producing discontent, and in exciting one portion of the community against another.

To escape the charge of making accusations, so general and vague that no man can defend himself against them, I shall now state some cases in point:—1. The proposed libel published by Dr. Philip against the Landroost of Somerset. 2. The gross and most shocking MISREPRESENTATION respecting the lands at Theopolis, of which transaction Dr. Philip dared to assert he had been an eye witness, and of which, more effectually to lull suspicion, he drew a Map!!! 3. His communications to the Hottentots and Caffers, on matters not spiritual, but purely temporal.

The object of Dr. Philip's speech at the Kat River settlement is, however, the subject more immediately under consideration: To produce a sensation among the Caffers it was above all things necessary, to divest himself of the character of a Teacher of Christianity, and to convince them that he was not one of those peaceful Missionaries who have religiously observed their enactments. To effect this very desirable object, nothing could be better contrived than the conference with the Caffers Chiefs at the Kat River settlement. They would there hear him publicly affirming, in his own country, that he had relieved a portion of the Colonists from a state of bondage, and that he had tied up the hands of the Governor himself so effectually, that never again would the colored men within the Colony be trod upon by "drunken Englishmen." What this man says, the Chiefs would naturally argue must be true, for the Government would not suffer him thus publicly to propagate falsehoods; and he must be powerful, because, whether true or false, the Government would prevent, if it could, the dissemination of doctrines which must inevitably produce dissensions among its subjects. But this is a matter upon which the less we say the better, for it is clear, that their dissension is our strength, and that when we next invade the Colony we shall either find the Hottentots our friends and confederates, or opponents, more from necessity than inclination. The Chiefs would, however, conclude that Dr. Philip was a powerful man in his own country, and that the great things he had done for the Hottentots he might if he pleased again perform for them. With this impression they returned home, and the fame of the "great Counsellor" went before him throughout their country.

The other two gentlemen did not take a prominent part in the proceedings at Kat River, because the celebrity which the Doctor acquired by his superior eloquence, would necessarily extend to his "talk"; and it is, besides, well known, that Mr. Fairbairn prefers discharging his personalities, his misrepresentations, and his pure fictions, in the shape of leading articles in the Advertiser, to making the effect of "bold eyes" upon his orators. Mr. Read, though neither an orator nor a public writer, renders good service to the cause in which he is engaged, by the silent but more efficacious operation of the pen.

Both Mr. Fairbairn and Mr. Reid, however, assumed their respective offices on passing the Border, one as Secretary, the other as Interpreter; but as the analysis of Mr. Fairbairn's leading articles ought in good faith to be continued, I must defer the proceedings of this patriotic triumvirate in Cafferland until my next communication.

Mr. Fairbairn, on the 17th January, concluded a most pathetic and sage lament, occasioned by the reflection that "war" was a "deadly game," with these words:—"We seem to hear the spirit-stirring drum, &c. rendered yet more glorious by the appearance in the back ground, of a whole community delivered in an instant from the lowest depths of despondency and helpless terror." Which of course means, that previous to the arrival of Col. Smith the authorities were incapable of applying the means at their disposal for the protection of the country. Those gentlemen of Cape Town who have passed encomiums on Mr. Fairbairn's "integrity," are informed that this is at once a most unjustifiable reflection upon the conduct of the local authorities, and a further manifestation of that rancorous feeling towards the inhabitants of this Frontier, which he has exhibited for several years past, but more particularly since the overwhelming calamity of an irruption of savages has befallen them. These are my proofs:—"The first alarm of invasion was heard on the 22d December, at which time the whole military force on the Eastern Frontier, which is in extent upwards of 200 miles, and skirted throughout by tribes of Caffers, did not exceed 700 men, of whom only 227 were mounted. In Graham's Town, including the Barracks in the vicinity, there were only about 350 men, and the whole of them, with the exception of 10 or 12 of the Cape Corps, were Infantry. The town covers so much ground, that to protect it in its whole extent would require, as stated by a high military authority, 7000 men! The inhabitants were, therefore, immediately enrolled as far as the exhausted state of the Ordnance Store would admit of."

I would here beg to call the particular attention of the 110 gentlemen of Cape Town, who find Mr. Fairbairn a "faithful recorder of public events,"—notwithstanding the inhabitants of the Frontier have publicly borne testimony to the contrary,—to the fact, that such was the defenceless state of the Eastern Frontier, when invaded by the Caffers, that the Arsenal at the Head Quarters of the Army could not supply even the inhabitants of Graham's Town with arms and accoutrements!—and I ask the gentlemen who have declared their full assurance in Mr. Fairbairn's "integrity," what means the local Functionaries possessed for enforcing "universal enrolment?" I also ask them if they are aware that Martial Law was proclaimed by His Excellency the Governor, in a special power in him vested by His Excellency the Governor? I cannot suppose that the gentlemen in question knew anything about these matters; I shall, therefore tell them, that the local authorities possessed no power whatever to compel a general enrolment, and that Col. Smith did. I will further tell them, that the old Commando Law was repealed by the Home Government, and that no other system of defence was substituted for it; and if they inquire how these things happened, I can tell them as a fact, that the representations of the inhabitants respecting their exposed position were disregarded; and I can further tell them, that it is an impression very general in this quarter, that the representations of Dr. Philip, Mr. Fairbairn, Mr. Pringle, and one or two others, had induced the Government to regard the Caffers as an inoffensive people, and to come to the unfortunate conclusion, that a military force and munitions of war were not required upon this Frontier for the protection of the inhabitants.

I am, &c. AN ENGLISH SETTLER. (To be continued.)

Albany, 4th Feb. 1835.

SIR,—The Advertiser has long since been notorious for its bitterness towards the Colonists, especially those on the frontier, but until this Caffer Invasion developed the rancorous feelings of its Editor, I believe the Colony did not think him so lost to every manly virtue, and so devoid of humanity as the wretch has proved himself—in proof I refer to his own columns—There falsehood after falsehood has been put forth with the most unblushing impudence.

Look at the cold-blooded misanthropy exhibited in his paper of the 21st ultimo, and the crowd of naked untruths and perverted facts there stated—one instance is so glaring that I must point it out—He there states that not more than 600 Caffers had entered the Colony—unfortunately for the Editor, Col. Bell was then in possession of official information of 400 having been killed—and Col. Somerset was actually engaged with a body which he estimated at 1500—besides many other bodies in different parts of the Colony.

However, we are well aware that Col. Bell, Col. Smith, Col. Somerset and the other authorities will not be believed in certain places, when at variance with Dr. Philip, John Fairbairn & Co. and that the latter will be believed and just as much respected by their party as if they had never written anything but truth through the whole course of their lives—any more, the greater falsehoods, the greater libels, the greater is the profit.

See also the letter from their well known agent at the Kat River, representing this Invasion as the momentary ebullition of Tyali's tribe, resulting from the Commodore's lately sent against them for the recovery of stolen cattle—Every tribe in Cafferland has men in the fray, and if not openly contending with the chiefs, at least winked at by them—except perhaps the chiefs of Congo's tribe—it is scarcely possible to conceive this was unknown to the writer of that letter or any of his party.

We want none of the assistance or commiseration of John Fairbairn or his faction, the only favour we have to ask is that they will come and take their place in the ranks of their Caffer friends.—Under the mask of hypocrisy we have been suffered and ruined, let us now see them as open enemies—I and hundreds of others will guarantee they shall never be hanged.

The Advertiser has proved itself so pre-eminently in wickedness, that I think no humane man, or one wishing well to his country, can conscientiously continue his subscription.

ONE OF THE PUNDERED. Under the British Government the Caffer Territory has been very much reduced. They have been driven from the Zuurveld. They have been expelled from the Neutral Territory.—Leading Article Commercial Advertiser, Dec. 7, 1835.

"Macomo may be assured that inquiry will be made in the proper quarters, and that ample justice will before long be extended to the Caffer Nation."—Ibid.

Cape Town, Feb. 17, 1835.

SIR,—At any other time, and unconnected with other circumstances, the above cited words would perhaps deserve no more than a mere notice, without creating any suspicion;—under the circumstances, however, in which the Colony is now placed, by the murderous and destroying invasion of the Caffers,—among which the Macomites are also found—these words have a more extensive meaning, and draw the attention of every calm observer. If, however, the Leading Article alluded to was the only one in the Advertiser which is filled with lamentations with regard to the "injustice" done by the Government and the inhabitants of this Colony to the Caffer nation, and with promises and consolations that ample justice will be done to them, &c. then we would not be able to perceive therein any very great criminal intention, but if it be brought in connection with the fact, that the Editor of the Advertiser is a British subject, residing within the limits of this Colony, and enjoying the protection of the Government;—that the Caffers are a free nation, not subject to the jurisdiction of our Government, and more over a nation cruel, cunning, and irreconcilable, and one who has always been, and still is, the enemy of this Colony, though shaking their enmity for a short time under the mask of friendship, such as many calm and impartial travellers have found them to be; and if to this be further added the circumstance that the same Editor has so often repeated those lamentations over the injustice, (done by the Government of which he is a subject, to a strange nation), and those promises and consolations of better times, and of redress of their grievances in his paper; and even now mocks at the present bloody invasion of the Caffers in this Colony;—when we see that that Editor remains silent, and does not openly defend himself, although challenged thereto, against the accusations openly made against him, especially during the month of January last, and also in this, for instance, "that there is an impression abroad that former misrepresentations in that Paper (Commercial Advertiser), as well as the visit of its Editor to the Frontier, are among the causes of a confederacy among the Caffer chiefs, which threatens the total ruin of a large portion of the Colony," and although pertinently asked—"deny if you dare the truth of these allegations, and I will prove your guilt," &c.

Who then does not perceive the tendency of all this—who can—who dare, as a loyal subject, allow all this to pass unobserved, without being likewise suspected of endeavouring to encourage the confederacy of the Caffers against the Colony, and that of being also traitors to the country?

In writing you this letter we have no other object than to remind the Public, and especially those charged with the maintenance of good order and the administration of justice, and whose duty it is to take cognizance of similar matters, what a dangerous enemy to the Colony, and under the protection of our laws, is residing and tolerated amongst us.—To make this more clear we refer the Public to the success of a special power in him vested by His Excellency the Governor? I cannot suppose that the gentlemen in question knew anything about these matters; I shall, therefore tell them, that the local authorities possessed no power whatever to compel a general enrolment, and that Col. Smith did. I will further tell them, that the old Commando Law was repealed by the Home Government, and that no other system of defence was substituted for it; and if they inquire how these things happened, I can tell them as a fact, that the representations of the inhabitants respecting their exposed position were disregarded; and I can further tell them, that it is an impression very general in this quarter, that the representations of Dr. Philip, Mr. Fairbairn, Mr. Pringle, and one or two others, had induced the Government to regard the Caffers as an inoffensive people, and to come to the unfortunate conclusion, that a military force and munitions of war were not required upon this Frontier for the protection of the inhabitants.
