

The sounds of Dylan

AMERICAN songwriter Bob Dylan is wooing music lovers at the Lyric Theatre.

Dominating the contemporary music scene for more than a decade, Dylan single-handedly pulled pop songs out of his "boy meets, loves and loses girl" spiral and echoed the fears and aspirations of his generation perfectly.

The elastic Head Band will provide the music at the show, Words and Music of Bob Dylan.

The musicians are not unknown as they have performed on stage and on TV.

There is only one woman in the show, Caroline van Nierop.

Caroline, of that musical family, the Blundells, appeared on TV with her family as a member of Knuckles. She plays the flute and most stringed instruments.

Although the Durban season is limited, shows for Indians and Coloureds are on March 31 and April 6.
