Showbiz swopshop in operation

By Peter Feldman

JOHANNESBURG. — An exchange between South African and European entertainers is now in operation.

Two major agents, Ray Miller in London and Mike Bourne in Johannesburg, have been engaged these past months in the scheme whereby top British artists are working in South Africa and local entertainers such as Finch and Henson, Ashley Parker, Bibi Andrews and Derick Sandy are given work overseas.

Ray Miller, who spent a week in Johannesburg on business, said: 'There is a big world out there looking for entertainers and there are circuits here that need overseas performers.'

The scheme has been working marvellously so far.

Country rock stars Brian Finch and Kenny Henson are at present undertaking a three-month tour of Scandinavia. Singer-songwriter Ashley Parker, who caused a hit when he worked with Spike Milligan here, is doing plenty of club work in London, I'm assured, and Bibi Andrews is doing a cabaret stint in the Algarve area of Portugal.

Another dynamic duo, Sandy and Derick, are doing a summer season in Wales.

They have been in Britain since March and have already toured most of the country.

Dianne Chandler

Dianne Chandler, another popular singer, has been booked to perform in cabaret in Portugal next month.

Miller said they also planned to take South African bands overseas.

Work is available, I am told.

'Bogey' for Bellville

THE Treasure Of Sierre Madre, starring Humphrey Bogart, will be screened by the Players' Film Circle at the Bellville Civic Centre on August 27 at 8 pm. The meeting is open to all and admission is free. The film won four Oscars in 1948.

The Enigma Of Kaspar Hauser will be screened on August 31 at the Kine 1 at 8.30 pm. Werner Herzog's film was awarded two prizes at the 1975 Cannes Film Festival.
