THE ZUID-AFRIKAAN

CAPE TOWN, JANUARY 20, 1846.

The Judicial Committee of the Legislative Council has expressed its unanimous opinion that the sum of £1800 for the four Special Magistrates...

No direct official announcement of the withdrawal of the parliamentary grant has, it is true, been received from the Home Government...

I trust that the urgent wants of this colony for additional magistrates, as well as its present inability to provide for those wants, will induce Her Majesty's Government to undertake the payment of the salaries of those four special justices...

These magistrates have always been considered as necessary to the colony and entirely dependent upon the decision of Her Majesty's government...

In reply to this despatch, dated 2d November 1840, Lord J. Russell, after, though on erroneous grounds, objecting even to the appointment of these gentlemen...

tained in the extract first quoted from the despatch of 27th October 1841, declared that on the grounds thereof...

But even supposing for a moment that the law might be withdrawn at pleasure, and in that case the Colonial Government would not only be bound instantly to provide...

We have no personal feeling against these gentlemen. We readily admit that they have performed their duties in every sense of the word; but we are likewise of opinion...

We know that no official notice has been received from home for the withdrawal of the grant; but we also know equally well that the Home Government has a right to withdraw it at any time...

The following is the protest of Mr. Ross, above referred to:— First.—Because the £1800 a year therein referred to, is a Parliamentary grant for continuing four Magistrates...

With regard to the expectations which Major Piers, Major Loggore, Captain Hill, and Major Barnes are stated to entertain...

In conclusion we beg to remind the writer, that there is a wide difference between a traffic in the articles of luxury, quoted by him...

The trial of JACOBUS ANTONIUS HOLTMAN for culpable manslaughter was brought to close on Friday last...

THE SCHOONER "KATE." The British Schooner which arrived in Table Bay yesterday...

Original Correspondence. To the Editor of "De Zuid-Afrikaan."

Cape Town, 13th January 1846. Six—In the last few numbers of your impartial and independent Journal, you have directed the attention of the public towards the proceedings which have occurred at the Municipal Board...

With regard to the so-called monopoly of the butchers, my own view is that it is a contract fairly entered into by Messrs. Mehan & Redelinghuys...

THE MAGISTRATE OF MALMESBURY. Malmesbury, Jan. 11, 1846. Sir,—I take the liberty to request, that you will be pleased to insert in your paper the accompanying Petition...

THE RECENT AFFRAY AT POST VICTORIA. We learn that Major Smith has made a formal demand of the chief Botma for the punishment of the Kaffir named Manella...

MURDER OF THE MISSIONARY SCHOLZ. But little progress has been made as yet towards the discovery of the murderers of this unfortunate individual...

The same time we believe that the government has not abandoned its demand for their apprehension and punishment...

JUDICIAL ESTABLISHMENT. The objection raised against the abolition of the circuit courts, and the introduction of the system of having circuit judges, is of a nature which, in the opinion of the public...

With regard to the so-called monopoly of the butchers, my own view is that it is a contract fairly entered into by Messrs. Mehan & Redelinghuys, with a view to increase their business...
