THE ZUID-AFRIKAN

CAPE TOWN, January 26, 1886.

We regret the inhospitable act of the Steilhooch Agriculturists, as it will appear from the advertising columns, have offered prices for certain agricultural requisites. However, we cannot conceal our admiration of the cross-section of the society which has been exhibited by the members of the society, as we cannot be parties to certain exigencies of the community. This of course, does not include the society of the Steilhooch Agriculturists, as we are well aware that they have not provided for certain exigencies of the community.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We have had the pleasure of receiving a number of photographs from the Zuid-Afrikaan, and are pleased to see that they have been reproduced in the Cape Times. The photographs are of a very high quality, and we are certain that they will be appreciated by all who see them. We hope to have more photographs from the Zuid-Afrikaan in the future.

SOUTH AFRICA.

In addition to the information already brought from the Zuid-Afrikaan, we have received a number of photographs from the Zuid-Afrikaan, and are pleased to see that they have been reproduced in the Cape Times. The photographs are of a very high quality, and we are certain that they will be appreciated by all who see them. We hope to have more photographs from the Zuid-Afrikaan in the future.
