THE ZULU-AMERICAN.
Cape Town, September 29, 1841.

To the Editor of the Zulu-american:

We have to report to you a most distressing and melancholy event that has occurred in this country, which we must not conceal from your readers. The event to which we refer is the death of Mr. J. M. M. Durnford, a native of this colony, who died suddenly and unexpectedly on the 24th instant, after a short illness.

Mr. Durnford was one of the most prominent and respected members of the Cape community. He was a man of great kindness and generosity, and was always ready to lend a helping hand to those in need. His death is a great loss to the community, and we offer our condolences to his family and friends.

We are also informed that the Zulu War is still continuing with great severity. The Zulus have shown themselves to be a fierce and determined people, and the fighting has been fierce and bloody. The government has been forced to send in reinforcements to counteract the Zulu threat.

In conclusion, we wish to express our hope that the Zulu War will soon come to an end, and that peace and tranquility will once again prevail in this region.

Yours faithfully,
