

to the movements of the English and French fleets; but the most recent represents the French fleet as having hastened from Toulon to the Dardanelles, while the English fleet remains inactive; Admiral Dundas not recognizing the authority of Colonel Ross, the British Charge d'Affaires, who had summoned him to the waters of Constantinople. It seems hardly worth while to be at the trouble of reckoning up all these rumours; but we must recollect, that although we cannot trust any one of them, they constitute all that we can learn of that which is really going on, and which is really important. The things themselves are hidden from our sight, by diplomatic secrecy, by distance, and by the imperfect means for collecting trustworthy information in the East; but these false and chattering accounts are a reflex of the facts in the mirror of the newspaper sky.

The attitude of the foreign powers in regard to the East is not more certain. Russia publicly professes to be neutral, sympathizing with the Sultan, but unable to act without her allies. Austria has already shown her disposition towards Turkey, but has plenty on her hands at home. The evidence of a very general disaffection in the Austrian dominions become too numerous for disguise; the very punishments and precautions attest the fact. If students are beaten in Prague for sympathy with "the traitor Kossuth"; if it is a necessary to shoot and imprison more people, as we learn this week, at Milan—to expel more Tuscans, poor cottagers, from the Lombard side of the Alps, disturbed in their humble dwellings; if the Hungarian garrison at Ancona must be changed because it is disaffected; and if the Austrian executions and arrests must be supported by similar proceedings in Ferrara and in Genoa,—it is impossible to believe that Austria, with all her strength, can really defy any part of her dominions. For all the peace concluded with Turkey, there is domestic war at home; and the home of Austria is a wide land.

The Swiss Government remains firm in its independent attitude; and Austria has not yet made any direct attack on the Federation. But she continues her reprisals, in expelling the poor Tuscans from Lombardy, with an avowed cruelty which proclaims, in its malevolence, that if Austria obtains from the Swiss Government, it must be for want of the power rather than the will.

In the absence of political action in Paris, the formation of a camp at St. Omer, as if menacing Belgium—the movements of the fleet at Toulon, and the general appearance of activity for no avowed object—keep uncertainty alive. The language of the French newspapers contributes to the feeling of doubt. Those which appear to reflect the opinions of the Government are now arguing that England is actuated by jealousy of France in the East, and that the advancement of Russia does not bear injuriously upon French interests; the whole aim of these semi-official writers being to intimate that at the head-quarters in France there is the most friendly feelings towards Russia. It is probable, however, that these outward appearances are signs that studied delusions—ambiguous voices meant not to express the feelings of those who utter them, but to mislead and bewilder those who hear.

"WALMER."

ONE LAST CHANCE!!

ON THURSDAY,

16TH JUNE NEXT,

The Sale of the Remaining

200 Erven in "WALMER,"

WILL BE PROCEEDED WITH
On the Stoop of the Commercial Hall, where those who have not yet secured for themselves a Property in that DELIGHTFUL SUBURBS, will enjoy their last chance. The inducements to purchase are increased.

The Proprietors of WELBEDAcht have already given ONE HUNDRED POUNDS sterling towards the completion of BAKEN'S RIVER BRIDGE and towards the construction of a

Delightful Drive

from Port Elizabeth to the rural Residences of its inhabitants—while at the same time towards the immediate erection of a

Dutch Reformed Church

there, the princely offering of TWO HUNDRED AND FORTY POUNDS Sterling is already made.

But it has now been rendered a matter of pure supererogation on the part of the advertisers to enlarge on the recommendations of WALMER. They do not require, in enumerating these, to dwell on the fact that purchasers at the last day's sale have been offered considerable advances on their purchases, nor to point out with any studied care how certainly the RESPECTABILITY and SELECT CHARACTER of WALMER are henceforth guaranteed by the high character of its new proprietors, to urge on the attention of future intending purchasers the necessity for them not to forego their LAST CHANCE, but to attend the Sale and purchase, or order others to do so for them.

Out of every new circumstance connected with the history of WALMER, some fresh recommendation arises,—so that to describe or enumerate becomes more than a task. To parties at a distance, who are ordered and desirous of enjoying a change of air along the sea shore, "Walmer" offers the only chance, as proprietors of Erven may pitch their tents or draw their wagons on their own Erven; have all their accustomed comforts about them, and thus enjoy "change of air" so often found the only restoration of health.

To carriers the possession of an Erf at Walmer is indispensable as it will enable them occasionally to make a short stay in the Bay, in order to avail themselves of any anticipated rise in wagon-hire; and further, to obtain such extra rates for goods on board of vessels, which there is every reason on the part of agents to push forward at once to constituents at whatever charge for transport. And though last, not least, have an extensive commonage before their eyes for their cattle to graze, with abundance of Water, the great and indispensable requisite. The advertisers therefore refrain and content themselves with once more, and for the last time, intimating that

On the Stoop of the Commercial Hall, on THURSDAY, the 16th June next, at 10 o'clock a.m., the Sale of the remaining ERVEN in "Walmer" will be resumed.

N.B.—To parties at a distance the Auctioneers offer their services free of charge, except as stated in the Conditions of Sale.

De VILLIERS & du TOIT,
Auctioneers and Land Agents.
Notwithstanding the statement to the contrary in a late Extra to Graham's Town Journal, the Proprietors of the remaining Erven of WALMER, and Auctioneers, hereby reassure intending purchasers of the Truth and Fact that there is ample supply of excellent Water in WALMER and its Commonage,—and also wish to remove from the minds of any, who by designing and interested parties may have been prejudiced against WALMER, any unfavorable impression created by a false rumour circulated, that there would be a Church Tax upon each Erf. The subscriptions for the Church will be purely voluntary—as shown in the preceding part of the Advertisement.

"WALMER,"
THE Plan of the Erven in the above Village, advertised for the 16th June next, as well as the Conditions of Sale, may be seen at the office of Mr. P. A. BRAND, Wale-street, No. 93, Cape Town, who will also receive orders for the purchase of Erven, free of charge.

PUBLIC SALE OF VERY VALUABLE LANDED PROPERTY, in the vicinity of Cape Town, THIS DAY, (MONDAY,) 13th JUNE,
THE Undersigned, instructed by F. R. SURRANS, Esq., will sell, in convenient lots, all that very valuable and eligibly situated Property,
WOLMUNSTER COTTAGE, MOWBRAY, WITH GARDEN AND PADDOCK.

Owing to its convenient distance (within 4 miles) from Cape Town, its proximity to Omnibuses daily passing the door, frontage to the Road, cheerful aspect, and various advantages, this compact Property offers one of the most desirable opportunities for purchase, whether as a RESIDENCE OR INVESTMENT, to the CAPITALIST.

The COMFORTABLE character of the HOUSE will be best appreciated by the fact, that the present proprietor has resided in it since his first arrival in the Colony, first as a Tenant, and subsequently he purchased the Property.

The GARDEN contains many choice Plants; a few good-braiding FRUIT TREES are on the Premises; as also, a WELL, FORCE PUMP, &c. &c.

Attached to the House are STABLES and COACH HOUSE, of a superior description, SERVANTS' ROOMS, COAL STORE, FOWL HOUSE, &c. &c.

The Conditions of Sale, together with the Plan of the Property, may be seen at the Office of the Undersigned, No. 19, Gray-street.

J. G. STEYTLER, Esq., Auctioneer.

THE ABOVE SALE, WILL TAKE PLACE, At 11 o'clock precisely, With Liberal Competition Money and Bonus.
