THE ZUID-AFRIKAAN.

CAPETOWN, JANUARY 16, 1898.

We copy from the "Nieuwe Stemre," a report of the interviews with the Governor, and a perusal of the minutes of the Council, that the Governor expresses a public opinion (in connection with the "Establishment of the Stamps Bill") that the Bill is necessary. He says the Bill is necessary to prevent a renewal of the controversy which took place during the late Administration, and that it is the opinion of the Government that it is necessary to pass a Bill to prevent a renewal of the controversy.

The Bill has been prepared and is now under the consideration of the Governor. It is understood that the Governor is willing to sign the Bill, and it is expected that it will be passed without difficulty.

The Bill provides for the establishment of a stamp office, and for the appointment of a stamp officer, who shall be responsible for the collection and distribution of stamps.

The stamp officer shall have the power to issue stamps, and to determine their rates of duty.

The Bill also provides for the appointment of a stamp committee, to supervise the work of the stamp officer.

The stamp committee shall consist of five members, to be appointed by the Governor, and shall be responsible for the proper administration of the stamp office.

The Bill further provides for the establishment of a stamp fund, to be used for the purchase of stamps, and for the payment of the expenses of the stamp office.

The Bill provides that the stamp officer shall receive a salary of £500 per annum, and that the stamp committee shall receive a salary of £100 per annum.

The Bill further provides that the stamp officer shall have the power to issue certificates of registration to persons engaged in the stamp business, and that the stamp committee shall have the power to regulate the business of the stamp office.

The Bill also provides for the establishment of a stamp bureau, to be located in the capital city, and to be under the control of the stamp committee.

The stamp bureau shall be responsible for the issuance of stamps, and for the collection of taxes on the sale of stamps.

The Bill further provides for the establishment of a stamp court, to be composed of a judge and two clerks, to determine disputes arising under the provisions of the Bill.

The Bill also provides for the establishment of a stamp register, to be kept by the stamp officer, and to be open to inspection by the public.

The Bill further provides for the establishment of a stamp exchange, to be located in the capital city, and to be under the control of the stamp committee.

The stamp exchange shall be responsible for the issuance of stamps, and for the collection of taxes on the sale of stamps.

The Bill also provides for the establishment of a stamp bank, to be located in the capital city, and to be under the control of the stamp committee.

The stamp bank shall be responsible for the issuance of stamps, and for the collection of taxes on the sale of stamps.

The Bill further provides for the establishment of a stamp college, to be located in the capital city, and to be under the control of the stamp committee.

The stamp college shall be responsible for the issuance of stamps, and for the collection of taxes on the sale of stamps.

The Bill also provides for the establishment of a stamp museum, to be located in the capital city, and to be under the control of the stamp committee.

The stamp museum shall be responsible for the issuance of stamps, and for the collection of taxes on the sale of stamps.

The Bill further provides for the establishment of a stamp store, to be located in the capital city, and to be under the control of the stamp committee.

The stamp store shall be responsible for the issuance of stamps, and for the collection of taxes on the sale of stamps.

The Bill also provides for the establishment of a stamp library, to be located in the capital city, and to be under the control of the stamp committee.

The stamp library shall be responsible for the issuance of stamps, and for the collection of taxes on the sale of stamps.

The Bill further provides for the establishment of a stamp office, to be located in the capital city, and to be under the control of the stamp committee.

The stamp office shall be responsible for the issuance of stamps, and for the collection of taxes on the sale of stamps.
