DE ZUID-AFRIKAAN.

Knapsaat den 28 February 1859.

EVEN als die Romeinsche veldheer, die door HANNIBAL overwonnen was, zoo mag ook de Heer BOSHOF wel den dankbetuiging van zyn Staat krygen, dat hy aan het gemeenbeest niet gewaanhoup had. In de rede, waarmede hy de sitting van den Volkraad geopend heeft, syn verschillende byzonderheden onzaaandacht waardig. Er zijn niemken van toekomstigen stryd maar ook van toekomstigen voorspoed; en zyn blykon dat er veel zamenloop om het stoffelyk welzijn van den boer te bevorde ren. Het ergste kwaad waar men ook thans, schoon wullig minder algemeen dan vroeger, met te worstelen heeft, is de moeijelikheid om syn veey te houden. In de districten Winburg en Caledonrievier schijnt alles vol rovers te zitten, zoodat het zelfs niet eens veilig is om in patrouilles naar het gestolen vee te gaan zeeken.— Zekere rooverden, die zich voornamelijk in MOLTMANS en BUSHLI's land ophouden, worden als zeer lastig afgeschildert, en de President had dan ook de aandacht van MOSHESR op hunne bedrijven gevestigd. Daarlangs wordt het Hoofdhoofd MOROKO om syn edel gedrag, gedurende al den tyd dat de Heer BOSHOF het bestuur gevredigd had, uitbundig door hem geprezen; en de Opperoorhoofden ADAM KOK, WATERBOER en MALOPO (laatgenoemde een zoon van Moshesr) worden wegens hun tegengang van rooveren insgelijks enig lot toege zwaid. Dat de onveiligheid echter genoeg is om in de meest bloedlippende districten alle nyverheid den kop in te nemen, mag men uit de 6de paragraaf van de rede afleiden, die zoowal om de daarin vermeide feiten als om de aanmerkingen van den spreker allezins de aandacht verdient:—

"UHEd. zult besprek hebben, dat ik van tyd tot tyd gevallen van voorreven in de Gouvernement Courant heb laten publiceren, maar ik heb reden te geloven, dat er nog veel dieveren gepleegd worden, die men niet rapporteert, want niet alleen maakt de boer gedurig van zyne paarden en van zyne rundvee kwyt van de weide en waakzaamheid wordt hem zyne kostelyke wogelingen schapen gedurig een, zelfs by nacht uit de kraal weggevoerd, in die mate, dat een enkel persooch, binne myn kennis, tot 86 stuks in minder dan 4 weken tyds heeft verhooging—wat het nu krygen kan tegen eenen vermindering prys."

De VERMEENDE KINDERMOED EEN BLOOT ONGELOUK.—Op II. Woensdag had het eerste geregelyk onderzoek in deze zaak plaats.

De eerste getuige was Meijfvr. Compton, de moeder der beschuldigde vrouw, wiens man, Kapt. Bide, enige dagen geleden, naar Engeland vertrokken was. Hy had sedert zyn huwelyk reeds vele reizen gedaan, maar zyn vrouw had zich daarover nooit beklaagd. Zy leefden, gelukkig te zamen en het was alleen de staat harer gesondheid welk haart niet toeliet hem op reis te vergezellen. Zy laste vertrek had sy haar leedewden betrouwbaar, dat hy zoort aankomst van de Kaap vertoeft had, maar zy had verder in haar gedrag niets vreemds opgemerkt; en tyd later, wanneer zy haar leedewden op de kaap ontmoet, was de vrouw niet meer te vinden. Zy was daarop weder in slaap gevwest en nadat zy binnen gekomen waren, had men het avondeten genoten en was te half elf uur bed gegaan. Zy en hare ongehoopte dochter sliepen in hetzelfde vertrek waarin Meijfvr. Bide sliep en had gedurende den nacht niet gehoord. Omstreeks drie ure 's morgens was zy opgestaan en had, na Meijfvr. Compton en hare ongehoopte zuster tot een wandeling uitgenodigd te hebben, hetgeen sy evenwel van de hand wezen, zich gekleed en de kamer verlaten. Omstrent een kwartier was daarna het kind wakker en hulde, en, terwijl zy op het punt stond het op te stellen, hoerde zy voetstappen als uit de zitkamer komende, waarop de moeder binnen kwam naar het bed gaande, zeide, "Kom kleine, gy en ik zullen een wandeling nemen," en zy nam het kind op. Zy was daarop weder in slaap gevwest en nadat zy binnen gekomen waren, had men het avondeten genoten en was daarna buiten gaan beide gesloten gevonden, en daarna worstelende Willmense met de nagels en vingerkuppen van de linkerhand in de oogen en op het gelaat neder, om hem met de klap in de regterhand den schadel verzyberen.

Op de plaat was dit geschied, was geen water, en alhoewel niet digt in den omstreke, waardoor het lyk niet van bloed kon gereinigd worden; maar toen hetzelvige naas de woning van Willmense gebragt was en daar gewassen werd, waren deze langs elkaander liggende schrapen en kwtzuren duidelyk zichtbaar.

Adam Adams met voorbedachten rade, dien allervelyksten moord gepleegd heeft. Willmense om syn kudde ziende naderen, schoot hy weg en lag hem voor niet zyn roer, met den kogel gladen. Hy trof hem op den afstand van 5 à 6 treden door den arm en zyde, wierp hem, om het bosch loopende, met geweld met een grote klap tegen het achterhoofd, en herhaalde dit op hy weerloos op den rug ter neder lag, toen zette hy zich over hem neder (zoals door de diepe indrukken der toonen duidelyk zichtbaar was) en drukte hy den smekenden, en daarna worstelende Willmense met de nagels en vingerkuppen van de linkerhand in de oogen en op het gelaat neder, om hem met de klap in de regterhand den schadel verzyberen.

In Central Indie bestaat insoubdantie in zekere mate, maar dat gedeelte van het land moet weldra buigen voor de overnacht onzer wapenen. Ook hebben de gebeurtenissen van het jaar zich niet bepaald tot het herinneren van verloren grond. De opstandige geest, welke aanleiding heeft gegeven tot de moorddadige verschrikkelijkheden van 1857 is nu en dan duidelyk gevestigd gedurende het pas afgelopen jaar. In de Deccan was de moord van den heer Mansoor bestemd, als een sein voor een algemeene opstand, maar de gespaarde maatregelen van het Bombaisch Gouvernement verdrongen de plannen der opstandelingen. Door gehele de Punjab werd een opstandige beweging beramend, waarvan het begin was op de opstand van Diro Ismael Khan, maar de nederlaag des opstandigen regiments en de stamp door de overheid genomen hebben eenige verdere uitbarsting beëindigd.

Op de plaat was dit geschied, was geen water, en alhoewel niet digt in den omstreke, waardoor het lyk niet van bloed kon gereinigd worden; maar toen hetzelvige naas de woning van Willmense gebragt was en daar gewassen werd, waren deze langs elkaander liggende schrapen en kwtzuren duidelyk zichtbaar.

Adam Adams, om zyn zwervend leven in de eenzaamheid by dag en by nacht, om prooi te zoeken, gewoonlyk en te regt. Adam Jakhale gonaamsa, verzaakte hoewel een mensch geboren, zyn aard en dierlijke natuur niet en kan gezegd worden in afschuwelyke wredeheid en moordlust, door den Tyger of Hijaan niet overtroffen te zyn geworden.—Correspondent.

HIVERSDALE, 25 FEB. 1859.—Woensdag den 23 dezer, 's namiddags ten 3 ure, hadden wy hier een verschrikkelijken donder storm, beginnende met een zware hagel bui; de hagelstalen waren enigeen groot als gansen eieren, doch door elkander als honders eieren, vergezelt met een orkaan van wind uit het Westen. Het verschrikkelijke van deze bezoeking kan bykan niet beschreven worden. Het Dorp alhier heeft veel geleden. Geen huis aan de westzijde heeft een enkele ruïne behouden. Eeneen huizen hebben meer dan 336 ruiten verloren; de Gereformeerde Kerk heeft mede al de ruiten aan gezepte zyde verloren, alsoende de vorst van het dake. Verschillende huizen met leyon daken hebben grote gedeelten van deselve verloren. Nieuwe wagons die voor de winkels stonden zyn omgeslagen, en de bovenste gedeelten van spanden gebroken; andere wagons werden door den wind door de straten voortgedreven als of er paarden voor trokken; grote balken van 30 voet lang dreven in de straten door de menigte van water; een huis heeft dan een weg verloren.

Tot myn leidwesen zyn twee kinderen van gekleurde ouders, die een myl van het dorp woonden, en een slechte woning bezaten, dood geslagen. Zoo ver vernomen kan worden, is op alle buitenplaatsen bykans de laatste gans doodgeslagen. By verscheidene boeren hoor' wy van groote schade; by den eenen zyn 50, by den ander 100 tot 300 schapen, door den hagel doodgeslagen.

Daar de volgende dag de zitting van de Circuit hier moest plaats hebben, was Advocaat Denysen in tyd in het dorp aangekomen, doch de heer Cloete kreeg den storm 2 ure van hier, en zod geweldig werden de paarden geteisterd dat zy op den loop gingen. De heer Cloete sloot eerst de deur van den wagon dicht, voor den hagel, maar was spoedig verpligt deselve weder te openen om er uit te kunnen vluchten, mogt er een ongeluk met de paarden voorvalen, doch gelukkig gebeurde dat.

Vele vreeschakers, als ook personen die in het veld waren, zyn ellendig door den hagel beoerd. Wy hooren nog van alle zyden van verliezen. Zalk weder men nooit te voren alhier gehad. De tuingewassen en wyngarden zyn alle vernield.

ALWEDER EEN WREEDADEIGE, MOORD DOOR KAFERS.—Da E. P. Herald zegt juist narig bekomen te hebben van een ander dier wreelheden welke onlangs zooldikwyls op de grenzen gepleegd zyn en de Boeren tot onverlaauwde waakzaamheid moeten aanzetten. Een soen van den heer Maringuitz, een jongen van 12 jaren oul, was in gezelschap van een Hottentotsche jongen, bezig om zyn vaders schepen te houden in de rigting van Somerset Oost, toen negen Kaffers hunne verschyning maakten en de schepen begonnen te slagen. De jongen verzette zich hier tegen en zeide hen afstallen. Zy dreigden hem hierop dat wanneer hy zich niet stil hield, sy hem eveneens zouden behanelen. Hy droeg echter by hen aan zyne schepen te laten staan, waarop zy hem bekegden en de kiel afbraken. Het Hottentot liep dadelyk naer huis en vertelde den vader van den jongen Maringuitz wat er gebeurd was, waarpoe den heer Maringuitz een met betrekking dese volgens eigen bevinding hadden verklaard.

Men zal uit het voorgaande sien dat er geen zweem van bewys van moedwillig opzet is, maar integenstaand dat de dood van het kind een bloot ongeluk is, wordt het een raadsel hoe men de Kapataal, Groenepunt en de dagelyks vernienigvuldigende schepen in onze haven zal voorzien. Dat een betere toever van water echter verkrygbaar is, kan niet betwifel worden—getuigen de fonteinen op de eigen dominen van de heeren Versfeld en Kotze, welke nu te loor gaan, omdat de Commissarijen over den verkeer in deel van de beide ongelukken op den 15 II. tergetysteld.

Nadat het doodvonnis in de zitting van het Rondegaand Gerechtshof was uitgesproken, keerden zy naar de gevangenis terug. De eerste dagen liepen voorby zooraals naer gewoonte. Klaas Toontje was in stilte weemoed verzonken, had diep gevoel van zyn ongelukken toestand en stortte zich nu en dan in het Gebed uit om de smarten van het berouwvol en geboorted hart te lenigen. Geheel anders was het met Adam Adams, die in het gebed bespotte en dikwyls tot hem zelde. "Nen, die baas (de Hoofd-Justitie) is het niet, hy heeft niet te zeggen, maar de grote baas aan de Kaap (de Gouverneur) ja die! hy heeft voor ons zwarte mensche l." Leender Kok, die zoo'n groot kwaad gedaan had en zyn meid vermoord had, kreeg wel genade, en waarom ons niet?" Hy bleef in deze hoop gedurende den ganschen tyd zyn vergevenshappelike verkeer; op den dag voor de tergetystelling begon die hoop wel eeniging te verflauwen, en doordat hy rigtig zyne eerste bekentenis in om provocatio en gewetigde zels-verdediging te bewijzen en nog steeds onvoldende vond men hem by het aanbreken van den laststen morgen zyn levens.

Toontje stil en onderworpen dacht, vooral in de lastdagen om zyne bekenden, verzoekt dat men voor hem dat zy te Bloemfontein eenige vuurtoekjes hadden gekocht, welke zy, te huis komende, onverschillig op de tafel hadden geworpen, waarpoe mede een koffyleft stond, en dat de kinderen van die stokjes in den ketel hebben gedaan. Het is echter waarschynlyker dat de ketel van koper was en dat by verzaam op dezelve behoorlyk school te maken, er een aanslag in ontstaan is, van Spaansch Groen of Koperzuur, dat een gruwelyk vergift is.*

EEN VERSCHRIKKELIK GeVAL INDIEN WAAR.—Een correspondent van de "Colonist" deelt, van de Oranjerivier schryvende, het volgende mede:—"Wy zyn op geen gezag onderzigt dat een droevig geval onlangs in den Vrystaat heeft plaats gevonden. Een boer, die bij Bloemfontein woont, vertrok naar die stad in zyn wagen, vergezeld van synen broeder en zyne vrouw. Zy leerden den avond terug en toen den volgenden morgen, naer gewoonte, de koffy geschenken werd, dronk die man eerst en ging in de naast gelegen kamer. De broeder en geslechte van de zyne gedronken, hebbende, dat "wat hebt gy in de koffy?" De schoonster reikte hem toenhaar koffy toe, zegende, "my koffy is niet als de uwe." De jonge man stierf onmiddelyk daarna.

Terwyl dit gaande was, was de man in de kamer overleden en de arme vrouw, haare koffy gedronken hebbende, stierf mede. De enige oorzaak dat men vindt kan ic, dat zy te Bloemfontein eenige vuurtoekjes hadden gekocht, welke zy, te huis komende, onverschillig op de tafel hadden geworpen, waarpoe mede een koffyleft stond, en dat de kinderen van die stokjes in den ketel hebben gedaan. Het is echter waarschynlyker dat de ketel van koper was en dat by verzaam op dezelve behoorlyk school te maken, er een aanslag in ontstaan is, van Spaansch Groen of Koperzuur, dat een gruwelyk vergift is.*

THE ZUID-AFRIKAAN.

Cape Town, February 26, 1859.

Mr. Boshoff, like that Roman General who had been defeated by Hannibal, deserves the thanks of the Free State for not despairing of the Republic. There are in his opening speech of the Volksraad several particulars worth noticing. There are germs of future strife but also of future prosperity; there are moreover indications that various causes are working together to increase the material comforts of the agriculturist. The principal disadvantage, though perhaps less generally than before, is still the insecurity of live stock. The parts in the direction of the Winburg and Caledon River districts are represented as most infected with robbers; so much so indeed that it is not safe for patrols to go on the traces of stolen cattle. Certain robber bands, who have their haunts chiefly in the territories of Molitsaai and Bushuli, are described as formidable depredators and the President had directed the attention of Moskhe to their doings. On the other hand the President bears testimony to the "noble behaviour" of the Chief Maroko during all the time that he (the President) has been in office. The Chiefs Adam Kok and Waterboer and Malopo, a son of Moskhe, are also eulogized for exerting themselves in repressing robberies. That, after all, the insecurity of property is great enough to blight the fruits of industry in those parts that are most exposed, may be inferred from the 6th paragraph of the President's speech; which deserves special notice both for the facts which it contains and for the comments of the speaker:

"You will have perceived that I have caused the publication, from time to time, in the Gouvernements Courant, of cases of cattle-stealing, but I have reason to believe that very many robberies are committed, which are not reported; for not merely does the farmer constantly lose horses and horned cattle from his own grazing grounds, but, in spite of every exertion and watchfulness, his valuable woolled sheep are being perpetually carried off from his kraal at night, and that, on such a scale, that an individual, known to myself, has lost no fewer than 86 head in less than 4 weeks.

"That the farmer cannot, amid such proceedings, be expected permanently to exercise patience and forbearance, and that he will be driven, sooner or later, to take revenge on such wasting pests, may be naturally expected, and such can be viewed as unreasonable only by the advocates of barbarism, or the systematic champions of such robbers as happen to have a colored skin, or perhaps by such as are incompetent to feel any sympathy with the sufferers, because they themselves have been privileged to enjoy, without interruption, the ample safety and protection which good laws, substantial walls, secure locks, and a well-organized police force can yield them."

There is a mysterious allusion to a difference between Adam Kok and the Chief Lepuy, the latter of whom had written to our Governor, which circumstance the President mentions as a reason for his not writing to His Excellency. The destruction by fire of the public office of Smithfield is supposed to have been intentional and a reward of £50 is offered for detecting the author. The expenses incurred by the late war seem to be a subject that nobody is very anxious to meddle with: the former Volksraad had referred them to the Executive Council, and the Council has now referred them back to the Volksraad. The collapse of a powder magazine at Winburg, on which £113 had been spent, is a set off against the acquisition of two guns, the one a six- and the other a twelve-pounder. Such little arrangements remind us of the days of Van Riebeek. It is encouraging to read that there is a considerable balance in the chest. But still more encouraging, because giving promise of more valuable results, is the 16th paragraph with which we shall close these cursory remarks:

"You will doubtless have learnt with much satisfaction, that the building for the seminary has been completed, and that the Rev. Mr. Andrew Murray, the minister of Bloemfontein, has consented to take upon himself its temporary superintendence.

The school has accordingly been opened since the 17th ult., and two competent teachers are giving instruction in it, the one in the English, and the other in the Dutch language. It has, however, been found necessary to continue the use of the old Government building as a schoolroom, from the impracticability of carrying it on in the other building without much inconvenience to the boarders, the number of whom will shortly amount to 15.

The commission, therefore, find it necessary that a schoolroom should be erected on the semi-annual erf, as expeditiously as possible. The expense of doing this is estimated at about £300, and since the commission are already upwards of £200 in debt, by reason of this amount having been expended on the buildings, beyond the granted funds, I have deemed it advisable (in consideration of the benefit this institution is likely to confer on the State) to bring the fact to the knowledge of the Volksraad, not doubting that you will be disposed to assist the commission with what it needs, inasmuch as Sir George Grey has generously contributed to that object the considerable sum of about £5,500."

APPOINTMENTS.—Dr. M. T. C. Besig, as district surgeon for Hopetown.

Mr. R. A. Beyers, as fieldcornet of the ward Elim, division of Bredasdorp, vice Preeda.

R. C. R. Boyes, esq. as civil commissioner and magistrate of Middelburg.

Col. E. S. Smyth, as acting Secretary to the Lieut. Governor.

Mr. C. T. Gelderblom, as poundmaster at Rietvallei, ward Langeberg and Mr. J. D. Nel, as ditto, at Opoek, ward Springfontein, both in the division of Riversdale.

Mrs. M. Hawkins, as postmistress at Humansdorp.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.—The published customs returns for the quarter ended 31st Dec. 1858, show that the imports have amounted to £672,406, being £30,399 less than during the same period in 1857. The exports amounted to £394,734, being £62,812 less than in 1857.

POST OFFICE AGENTS.—The following persons have been appointed as post office agents:—

Mr. P. A. Myburgh, farm Vryheid, division of Bredasdorp.—Mr. J. H. Cloete, farm Klipdrift; Mr. J. Parke, farm Wheathland; Mr. N. J. Smit, farm Uitgeleide Zeekoeat; Mr. P. J. Loots, farm Quaggas fontein, all in the Graaff Reinet division,—Mr. P. A. van Zyl, farm Troetrot; Mr. P. J. A. de Villiers, Kookfontein; Mr. R. Grisold, Lambers Bay; and Mr. A. J. van Zyl, Pa., farm Langevallei (ward upriver Oliphants river), all in the Clanwilliam division.

TULBAGH.—Persons neglecting to pay their arrear road rates before the 15th March, will be prosecuted.

RIVERSDALE.—Mr. S. Kloppers having resigned his seat as the representative of district No. 2 in the Divisional Council, the election of a new member will take place on the 25th March.

INTESTATE ESTATES.—Meetings of the next kin and creditors will be held in the estates of W. Arends and surviving widow S. Magerman. At the Magistrate's office, Elands Post, on the 8th April.

H. P. Seaward.—At the master's office, on the 12th April.

THE MUNICIPALITY.—Mr. Arderne has resigned his commissionership, and Mr. E. Landsberg, who has been elected a Commissioner, has refused to act.

WATER.—It is said that just now the two Municipal reservoirs contain very little, if any water. If that is the case, it becomes a problem how Capetown, Greenpoint and the daily increasing shipping in our harbour are to be supplied. That a better supply of water is however procurable, is beyond dispute—witness the springs on the properties of Messrs. Versfeld and Kotze, which now run to waste, because the Commissioners of the Municipality labour under the erroneous notion that the owners of these springs ought to give it them for nothing! But the quantity supplied by these springs dwindles into nothing when compared with the hundreds of thousand gallons now running into the sea at Cape Bay, and which may be secured at an outlay of some £22,000 (the amount estimated for the purchase of the right of property, construction of reservoirs, laying down of pipes, &c.)

Mr. Henry Solomon proposes that a water company should be formed for the purpose, and has applied to the Municipality to know whether it would purchase 200,000 gallons per diem, at the rate of £1 per 100 gallons per annum, if such company were established, but as yet no decision has been come to by the Commissioners, nor is it likely that they will; for so long as the constitution of that body remains as it is, no action in the right way can be expected. A company, if established, will act for itself and employ its own resources—and eventually the Municipality will be forced to take, at an advance price, what can now be had at a discount.

ALBERTUS v. ALBERTUS.—On Thursday last the Supreme Court gave judgment in this case. It held that if it could be proved that at the time the deed of separation was executed between the parties (27th February 1857), there was just cause to obtain a judicial decree of separation, the deed will hold good and Mrs. Albertus will not be entitled to claim any portion of the joint estate; but if on the other hand there was no such just cause, then the deed of separation was invalid, and Mrs. Albertus was entitled to take her portion. The Court considered its duty to be to maintain the community of property between married persons. It would be dangerous, the Court said, if parties married in community of property were allowed to execute a deed of separation (by which that community is destroyed), without sufficient grounds to induce the Court to grant a judicial decree of separation.

CLANWILLIAM.—A few additional particulars relative to the two unfortunate men executed on the 15th February 1859.

After sentence had been pronounced upon them in the Circuit Court, they returned to prison. The first days passed by as usual. Klaas Toontje fell into a state of quiet sadness, was deeply sensible of his unhappy condition, and occasionally engaged in prayer to relieve the pains of a contrite and tortured heart.* Quite different was it with Adam Adams, who with hellish features depicted in his countenance, scoffed at his devotion, and frequently said to him: "No, it is not that baas (the Chief Justice) he has nothing to say: but the great baas at the Cape (the Governor) yes he, takes care of us black people!" Leendert Kok, who committed so great a crime and murdered and burned his woman, got mercy, and why not we?" Never did this hope forsake him throughout his incarceration on the day previous to the execution, it certainly did grow a little faint, but he so shaped his first confession as to prove provocation and justifiable self-defence, and still wavering was he found when the last morning of his life dawned upon him.

Toontje, quiet and submissive in his last days, directed his thoughts especially to his acquaintances, requested that a letter should be written in his name to his parents, and dictated the words which were written to his mistress, which bore the impress of his feeling and contrition; he begged forgiveness for the evil he had done, and beseeched her to pray to God to have mercy on his soul, and to bear nothing in her heart against him.....and Adam Adams passed that same time in blasphemy and scoffing and the cunning concoction of all kind of inventions; at one time it is a mad (malkop) sheep which fell into his hands not far from the place where the murder was committed; at another it is a stray sheep three hours from thence in the mountain; again the wounded lamb of an antelope (duiker) which he chased; or he accuses the witnesses of perjury, or finds fault with his rations, and remains in this unsettled state until the last.

* We consider ourselves in duty bound to state that during the absence of the Rev. Mr. Murray, the Rev. Mr. Smit of this place visited both prisoners every day, and during the last weeks more than once a day. It was more than heartfelt sympathy which filled his breast when he spoke words of consolation to them, and admonished them to prepare for their doom. Klaas Toontje keenly felt this and was grateful. Without his misfortune he would never have made his confession.—Correspondent

Now when in conclusion, with both his confessions before us, with the evidence of two excellent and oft tried "spoorwynders" (men who are adept in the tracing and comparison of foot-prints), and borne out and confirmed by the assertions of the widow Philida Willense and Isaac van Rooyen,—the last named two of whom had been constantly engaged for two days in investigating and considering everything minutely; when we consider all this taken together, then we come to the greatest probability, if not equal to the truth itself, that

Adam Adams did, with malice aforethought, commit that most heartless murder. On seeing Willem approach with his flock, he hid himself, and laid him with his gun loaded with a ball. At 5 or 6 yards distance he shot him through the arm and side: then, going round the bush he struck him with a large stone on the back of his head, and repeated this until he lay powerless on his back; he then sat upon him (as was clearly apparent from the deep impression of the toes), and with the nails and finger tops of the left hand in the eyes and face of the besieching and afterwards struggling Willense, he forced him down, so as to be able, with the stone in the right hand, to smash his head.

(At the place where this occurred, there was no water, neither was there any close by or in the neighbourhood, so that the body could not be cleaned of blood: but when it was brought to the house of Willense and was washed there, those scratches and injuries, lying alongside of each other, were clearly discernible.)

Adam Adams, in consequence of his wandering life in solitude, by day and by night seeking for prey, rightly nick-named Adam Jackal, though born a man, never forsook his animal nature, and can be said in shocking barbarity and blood-thirstiness not to have been surpassed by a tiger or hyena.—Correspondent.

RIVERSDALE.—February 25, 1859.—On Wednesday, the 23rd instant, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, we had a most awful thunder storm, which set in about two hours from here, and so severe were some of them as large as goose eggs, but generally as large as hen's; accompanied with a gale from the westward. The frightfulness of this visitation can scarcely be described. The village has suffered much. Not a house on the west side has been left with a single pane of glass. Of some houses upwards of 336 panes were broken. The Dutch church too had lost every pane on said side, as also the ridge of its thatch. Several houses with slate roofs have lost great portions of them. New wagons which stood before the shops were turned over and the upper parts smashed to atoms: other wagons were driven through the streets by the violence of the wind as if drawn by horses; large beams, 30 feet in length, floated in the streets by the mass of water; one house lost thatch and gable.

I regret to say that two colored children, whose parents reside in a miserable house about a mile from the village, were killed by the hail. As far as can be ascertained almost every goose on the neighbouring farms has been killed. We hear of severe losses sustained by several farmers, some having lost 50, others from 1 to 300 sheep, killed by the hail.

As the Circuit Court was to be held on the following day, Advocate Denysseau had reached the village in time, but Mr. Cloete was overtaken by the storm about two hours from here, and so severe was the pelting the horses got that they made a bolt of it. Mr. Cloete at first closed the door of the wagon against the hail, but was soon obliged to open it again, so as to be able to make his escape should anything happen to the horses, but fortunately no accident occurred. Many cattle herds, as well as other persons who were out in the field, were seriously injured by the hail. Reports of losses continue to come in from every quarter. Such a severe storm has never been experienced here. All the gardens and vineyards have been destroyed.—Correspondent.

ANOTHER BRUTAL MURDER BY KAFIRS.—We have just received information of another of those atrocities which have of late been so frequent on the frontier, and which call for unslumbering vigilance on the part of our farmers. A son of Mr. Marlinguitz, boy of 12 years of age, was in company with an Hottentot boy, tending his father's sheep, in the direction of Somerset East, when nine Kafirs made their appearance and began cutting the throats of the sheep. On this, the boy expostulated with them, and told them to desist. They then threatened that unless he remained quiet they would treat him in the same manner. He still persisted in urging them to leave the sheep alone, when they seized him and cut his throat. The Hottentot boy immediately ran home, and told young Marlinguitz's father, who immediately raised a small commando and pursued the murderers, overtook them and fortunately succeeded in shooting three of them. It is also reported that two of them were taken prisoners, and have since been lodged in the Some-set gaol.—E. P. Herald.

THE EAST LONDON TRAGEDY.—The Banner gives the following from its correspondent, under the 16th instant, as the latest (we trust the last) act of the East London Tragedy. This is the fifth death:—Mr. Borcherds died yesterday, and was buried to-day evening. These sudden and mysterious deaths have cast a gloom all over our sunlit community. All causes being buried in mystery."

PORT ELIZABETH BI-WEEKLY PRODUCE SALE.—The favorable intelligence brought by the Celt respecting the state of the Home produce market, influenced very sensibly the transactions at our Produce Sale yesterday. The attendance was good, and the competition brisk. The show of produce was larger than usual, and the prices realized could not fail to be highly satisfactory to sellers. In skins especially was the advance more observable. Good, heavy, well-cured sheep and goat skins were in demand, and sold for high rates.

We consider ourselves in duty bound to state that during the absence of the Rev. Mr. Murray, the Rev. Mr. Smit of this place visited both prisoners every day, and during the last weeks more than once a day. It was more than heartfelt sympathy which filled his breast when he spoke words of consolation to them, and admonished them to prepare for their doom. Klaas Toontje keenly felt this and was grateful. Without his misfortune he would never have made his confession.

As if to make up for the absence of skins of every description on Tuesday last, there was a large accumulation yesterday. Nearly 5000 skins were disposed of at an advance on former rates. The principal portion, of course, consisted of Sheep and Goatskins, there being about 2700 of the former and upwards of 1300 of the latter kind. For one small parcel of superior heavy long woolled sheepskins, the long price of 2s. 9d. was realized. Fair long-wooled skins, average say 2s. to 2s. 4d. Cape skins 8d. to 8s. d. and pelts 4d. cash. About 600 Wildebeest Skins were sold at prices ranging from 2s. to 2s. 8d.

The trade in Hides is confined to the sale of a few parcels of dry hides, which sold readily at from 7s. 3d. to 8s. each. In salt hides there is nothing doing.—E. P. Herald.

BURGERSDORP.—PUBLIC MEETING.—A large and influential public meeting was held in the Court-house, yesterday (Sunday) at 11 a.m. It may appear strange to those residing at a distance to hear that a meeting was held on such a sacred day, but to remove erroneous impressions, we take the liberty of here stating that it was one of a purely charitable character and which required prompt exertion. The chair was occupied by our worthy Civil Commissioner, who stated in his opening remarks that it had that morning come to his notice that three more cases of small-pox had appeared in town—that it was his desire to secure the co-operation of the inhabitants—and that he convened this meeting for the sole purpose of ascertaining their opinion as to the course to be adopted, and likewise to have the opportunity of reading the Act for preventing contagious diseases—which he accordingly did. A discussion was then carried on as to the feasibility of erecting temporary buildings to be used as hospitals just above the town, which lasted a few minutes and was finally assented to.

We are gratified to note that on this occasion upwards of £270 were subscribed by those in the room. The Municipality and Benevolent Society have also come forward liberally—the former gave towards this object the sum of £30, and the latter, £20—which swells the amount up to £120. Ample provision will now be made, it is to be hoped, for the prevention of the Small-pox spreading any further. The thank of the public are specially due to our Civil Commissioner for the promptness exhibited on this occasion and for his desire to assist those who have no helping hand near.—Albert Times.

INDIA.—By the Lady Jocelyn we have received Indian papers to the 10th January last. The following review of the state of affairs at the end of the previous year is taken from the Press of the 1st January:—

A new year commences this day, and, although upwards of 19 months have been spent in putting down the rebellion, the sword is still unsheathed. During the past year much has been done towards the restoration of peace and tranquillity. With the exception of Oudh, and a part of the districts of Gorakhpore and Shahabad, the revolted provinces in the North West, have been re-occupied, and in many places martial law has been abolished, and the Civil authorities have resumed their functions. In Central India, insubordination, to some extent, but that part of the country must soon yield to the superior power of our arms. Nor have the events of the year been confined to the regaining of lost ground. The mutinous spirit that led to the murderous horrors of 1857, has been suppressed, and in many places martial law has been abolished, and the Civil authorities have resumed their functions. ## A House and Garden

FOR SALE

By Private Contract.

MR. GEO. KETTLE, Birmingham and Sheffield Ware, the houseman, of St. George's-street, has recently purchased the

Spacious Premises,

in LONG-STREET, corner of Shortmarket-street, formerly the Booking Office of the Paarl and Stellenbosch Omnibus—which afford ample accommodation for both his Business and Residence.

He is therefore desirous of parting with his present Residence in Hof street (Gardens), adjoining that of the V. R. the Dean of Cape Town, and has instructed the Undersigned to dispose of it by #### Private Contract.

The HOUSE was purchased by him in June last from the Estate of F. A. Boor, since which it has been improved by the addition of a BATH-ROOM, an ORNAMENTAL FOUNTAIN, &c. Mr. K. has also purchased a Plot of

"Taunton House" Garden, in the immediate neighborhood, which he has had walled and fenced in, and which can be had with the COTTAGE in value.

In again offering TAUNTON COTTAGE for Sale, under the circumstances aforesaid, the Undersigned has only to repeat that it is both in substance and ornament one of the best-finished Dwellings to be met with in the Environs of Cape Town, and that the chance of acquiring so desirable a Residence, and one of such pleasant access through the Government Gardens, is not of frequent occurrence.

The COTTAGE contains eight Sitting and Bed Rooms, Bath Room, Pantry, Kitchen, three good Cellars, Water-closet, &c.; and the House-loft is floored throughout in the most substantial manner, thus forming another large Apartment.

It has excellent Stabling for four Horses, Coach-house, Loft, &c.—all which might at little expense be converted into valuable additional Rooms to the House.

The Premises may be viewed on application, and further particulars may be ascertained of Wellington, Feb. 17, 1859.

Public Sale of

Landed Property,

Shipping Intelligence,

IN THE #### Thriving Village of Wellington.

THE Undersigned wishing to divest himself of his superfluous Landed Property, has instructed Mr. P. J. PAVER, J.P., to sell by public auction,

On Wednesday, 2nd March, 1859,

AT 10 O'CLOCK PRECISELY,

With Liberal Bonus,

Certain Erf, situate in this Village, on the Spruitriver, between Church and Malherbe streets, with the Dwelling House erected thereon, fronting Bain's Kloof, which was finished a year ago, and is adapted for a genteel residence.

It comprises 3 large Rooms, Dining Room, Hall, Pantry, Kitchen and spacious Loft, and is adapted for any kind of business. Said Erf is planted with Vines and every variety of Fruit Trees, and has a never failing Well.

As Landed Property here continues to increase in value and dwellings are difficult to be obtained, a favorable opportunity is now offered to those desiring to settle here, and to capitalists for the safe investment of capital.

E. J. DANCER.

Wellington, Feb. 17, 1859.
