

THE ZUID-AFRIKAAN.

Cape Town, July 28, 1859.

It is now pretty well understood that the war of which the drama is being enacted in the South of Europe cannot possibly be confined to Italy and Austria. The times have long passed when Monarchs had it in their power to close or open the temple of Janus, as their royal caprice dictated. When the nations go to war, there is nothing left for Kings but to join them with a good grace. The demonstrations throughout Germany in favor of Austria, though they may assume a form as popular demonstrations are very apt to do, that must appear extravagant to an unconcerned spectator, bear witness of an intensity of feeling, which, acting on an extensive scale, will undoubtedly be productive of wide spread, energetic action. We may feel inclined to smile when we read, that the hotel-keepers of Cologne have conspired to abolish the use of French wines, and have written to their agents in France to countermand their annual supplies from Bordeaux and other wine-producing localities! We may shrug our shoulders when we are told that the March of Radetzki has become as it were the national hymn of Prussia and Saxony, and that on the occasion of the Leipzig fair a dinner party of book-sellers, at which many parts of Germany were represented, has been characterized not by the usual toasts to the Press and other interests connected with the book-trade, but by the most enthusiastic effusions in favor of Austria, and the most violent execrations of France—but after all these are the things that show which way the popular mind inclines. And when Government, as in the case of Hanover, manifests a bias opposed to that of the people, the latter have recourse to the press to announce to the world at large, that they do not wish to have their views identified with those of their Government. But whether as a result of cool deliberation, or from a conviction that it is prudent to honor the people, this is certain that Prussia and several other states of Germany have already spoken out at the Diet, in a manner from which we may fairly infer, that they are not going to be idle lookers on, while France is violating the territory of Austria. A simultaneous declaration of Bavaria and Saxony in the last Session of the German Diet is expressed nearly in these terms: "By a declaration made in the 18th sitting by the Prussian Delegate in the name of his Government, concerning a proposal of Hanover, tending to concentrate an army of observation, the Government of His Majesty has noticed with pleasure that Prussia is resolved if necessary to interpose all its power for the purpose of maintaining the security and independence of Germany. His Majesty will accordingly feel grateful to Prussia for taking the lead in those military measures, which of course all the confederated states have an equal right to adopt—a right which our Government at least, as far as it is concerned, is not disposed to resign." The rest of the document is in the same strain. Germany is known to be a collection of States differing not only in magnitude, but in many essential points besides, and therefore ill adapted for exerting a power, at all proportionate to its extent and to the numerical strength of its united armies: but if one thing more than another is able to unite its scattered members for a great effort, it is that feeling of a common nationality which recent events seem to have roused from its slumbers.

ADDRESS TO THE GOVERNOR.—At the public meeting held on Monday last, the draft of address published in our paper of that day was adopted. With regard to a testimonial, the chairman intimated that His Excellency had positively declined to receive anything of the kind. On the motion of Mr. Fairbridge it was resolved to open a general subscription for a statue of Sir George Grey to be erected in some conspicuous place in Cape Town. The people of Swellendam have also agreed upon an address to the Governor.

THE MUNICIPAL ADDRESS.—A deputation of Commissioners on Tuesday last waited upon Sir George Grey, to present the Municipal address, to which His Excellency gave the following reply:—

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN, I thank you much for the address you have just presented to me. It was with great pleasure, on my first arrival here as Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, that I received the congratulatory and complimentary address which you then presented to me as Commissioners of the Municipality of this, the capital of the colony. As that address was then read to me, I wondered, in my own mind, whether it might be possible that the kindly feelings which it expressed might be preserved almost unaltered during my whole tenure of office here, and whether they might be re-echoed when I was called upon to relinquish my position, and I determined that, in as far as I was able, to act on my part should prevent the possibility of so happy a result being realized. It is therefore with great satisfaction that, now the end has been reached, I can look back and see, from the address you have read to me, that one of the earliest hopes which I formed on my arrival here has been carried out. For the part you have borne in bringing about this result, my thanks are due to you, and are cordially given.

The satisfaction I have above expressed is brightened by the inward assurance I feel that when the circumstances connected with my recall, together with my explanations, are made known, it will be felt by all that there is nothing in these which should, in any way, impair or diminish any claim my services here may have given me upon the approbation of my Sovereign, or upon the good will of her subjects in South Africa. It would be idle to attempt to deny that I feel keenly as sudden a separation from many to whom I am much attached, and from objects on the completion of which I had set my highest wishes, many of which now seem so nearly attained. But it is a great alleviation to my regret in this respect, to have received such an expression of sympathy from those amongst whom I have now so long lived, as that which you present to me. Lady Grey has begged me to thank you for the wishes you have expressed for her future welfare. We, on our part, shall always watch with interest the, we trust, constantly increasing prosperity of this city, from the inhabitants of which we are happy in numbering so many friends.

(Signed) G. GREY.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—August Robert, the man convicted of plundering Mrs. Franke and others, on Sunday last attempted to commit suicide in the goal. It appears that while some of the men had been allowed to shave, Robert secretly carried off one of the razors. As soon as it was missed, search was made and Robert was found in his cell, with his throat cut and the razor near him. Medical aid was at once procured and the prisoner removed to Somerset Hospital. The wound was found not to be of a dangerous character.

On Tuesday morning Robert managed to elude the vigilance of his keepers and effected his escape from the Hospital. He was however re-captured in the afternoon.

INFANTICIDE.—From a contemporary it appears that a shocking case of infanticide has taken place at Montagu. The body of a child was discovered under a brandy still, and on a post mortem examination it was found that the skull had been fractured and a needle driven into the brain. The mother, a white woman, had eloped, but after wandering in the field for about 40 hours without food or nourishment, she was apprehended in Coggmans Kloof, just as she was about to enter the toll house, and was brought back to Montagu and placed in the goal.

SIGNOR VALDEZ.—This gentleman, known as the Portuguese arbitrator in the Mixed Commission, has suddenly disappeared after raising various sums of money. It is presumed, that he has left either by the mail steamer or the Perseverance; but from information received after the departure of these vessels, it was suspected that he was concealed on board the French ship Cadichone, and a search was consequently made, but without result. After this information was again received leading to the conclusion that he was on board that vessel after all, in consequence of which the police were sent on board to renew the search, but were refused admission by the Captain, who threatened resistance. Of course the police had to return to the shore to make report, upon which a strong body of armed police proceeded on board, accompanied by the Consul's Secretary, who prevailed upon the Captain to allow the renewed search to be made. About 5 o'clock a portion of the police returned, whilst the others remained on board to prosecute the investigation,—with what result is still to appear.

THE HOMEWOOD POISONING CASE.—We are happy to learn that the very doubtful evidence produced at this trial has enlisted the sympathies of a great number of our fellow citizens,—merchants, landholders, professional men, some of the grand jurors, &c.,—who are signing a memorial, now in circulation, to His Excellency, praying that he will extend his prerogative of mercy to the prisoner, as while giving their unqualified testimony that the jury behaved most honestly and conscientiously, yet the memorialists are deeply impressed with the opinion that the verdict "afforded another addition to the already numerous instances of the fallibility of human judgment in cases of circumstantial evidence." We trust that His Excellency will give the prisoner the benefit of the doubt, and by extending to him that quality of mercy which "blesseth both him who gives and him who takes," register an act which at a moment when we are about to lose His Excellency's invaluable services, will, in after years, shed a brighter lustre on that page of our colonial history, wherein the prosperous administration of Sir GEORGE GREY will be recorded. THE CHEAP-MEAT MOVEMENT.—(Communicated) —The committee of the intended cheap-meat company, after feeling their way for some time, have at last struck into the right path: they have made it profitable to subscribe. When this comes to be fully understood, a sufficient number of shares will soon be disposed of, and the benefit to the poor will be as great as if all had subscribed from the most benevolent and philanthropic motives, which of course could be expected only from a few, whose subscriptions could never amount to anything like the sum required to set the business a-going. We have seen subscription lists circulated headed as follows:

SUBSCRIBERS TO THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE CHEAP MEAT COMPANY. Capital £20,000 in 20,000 Shares of £1 each. With limited liability. Each share entitled to two lbs. of meat per diem.

On this basis the company is a benefit to subscribers and to the public at large, and this is not problematical but capable of demonstration to any man who can understand that twice two are four. Surely it does not require to be proved, if there is any truth in the proverb a penny saved is a penny gained, that if you save 4d. a day, your savings in two months of 30 days each amount exactly to £1; so that in two months the one pound contributed to the fund returns to the subscriber in the shape of meat; and after that he has 10s. clear profit every month so long as the reduced price of meat can be made to last. This is on the supposition that the price of animal food shall be reduced only by 2d. a lb. If the reduction is greater, the profit will be greater in the same proportion. This then is the benefit to subscribers—a benefit which all who can afford to eat meat from the shambles at all can readily secure for themselves, and ought to secure for themselves on principles of economy. It is not difficult to show how the public at large will be benefited by this company. Every one must see at once that such a competitor in the market will bring down the prices of butchers to the same level, and may perhaps compel them to shut up shop. The most charitable individual need not feel any scruples about being instrumental in bringing about such a result, for there is no doubt that the few who have of late had the monopoly of the shambles can afford to leave off and live as gentlemen as regards expense.

THE NEW CORPS OF SAPPERS AND MINERS.—In the meeting held in the Town House on Wednesday Evening the 21st instant, for the purpose of raising a Volunteer Corps of Sappers and Miners, some interesting discussions took place that have not been published relative to the mode of paying the working classes for their time in case of enrolling themselves, and also about the real character and condition of such a corps. Dr. Gird said it appeared strange to see the Cape Volunteer Corps gazetted in the Queen's Army list, as Royal Corps, when they were not receiving the Queen's pay. It appeared to be a mistake altogether, and likely to deceive the British Government into the belief that we had so many troops of effective soldiers stationed at the different places at the Cape mentioned in the Army list. He approved of the formation of Volunteer Corps, and particularly a Corps of Sappers and Miners, without which the series was not complete, but not under direct military command.

All such Corps, called Volunteers, should be subordinate to the civil powers, as the Volunteer yeomanry Corps in England are, leaving them to volunteers for active service, in the time of foreign invasion. They were in fact nothing more than Municipal guards, to aid the civil powers, and as such of great importance to the safety of the colony for its internal defence. Calling them Royal Corps, and placing them upon the Queen's Army list as regular soldiers had done much harm already, and was the cause of many Volunteers withdrawing, as also preventing others from enrolling themselves, and would soon upset the whole concern if not seen to and corrected.

In answer to the chairman's repeated appeals to the men to join the Corps for fear of the enemy coming down upon the coast, while they were so unprepared. The Doctor said, it must be some in mind that this is a British Garrison Town, and as such, entitled to the protection of British Troops, and warned them not to mislead the Home Government into the belief that they were capable of taking upon themselves the defence of it, or the colony.

What was to become of the inhabitants of Cape Town if they were to depend upon the Volunteers for protection? If they were all mustered together, and a French fleet made its appearance in Table Bay, a few shells among them would soon send them all flying.

The Colonel Commandant and Chairman with some indignation rose for the honor of his Corps, because Dr. Gird had said the Volunteers would run away.

The Dr. interrupted him, to qualify his assertion, by saying, that it was no reflection upon the courage of the Volunteers, because the latter had no arms, and the possibility of consulting against such an overwhelming force for the defence, in case of an attack, would have to be left on the defenders, would, of course, as a matter of discretion, induce them to cut and run for it, like sensible men.—(Communicated.)

PROVISIONAL COMMITTEE.

O. J. TRUTER, Esq., Senior, Chairman.

J. J. L. SMUTS, Esq., The Hon. H. C. JARVIS, Esq., J. C. GIE, M. Son, Esq., Dr. CHANGUION, A. P. J. VAN DER POFF, Esq., W. J. A. VAN REENEN, Esq., J. H. BAM, Esq., D. A. DE VILLIERS, Esq.

The Hon. J. H. WICHT, Esq., Colonel APPERLY, A. J. LOUW, Sen., Esq., J. A. BARTMAN, Esq., A. P. HERHOLDT, Esq., B. R. H. DANIEL, Esq., J. A. ROOS, Esq.

Notice is hereby given that, at a Meeting of the inhabitants, held in the Town Hall this morning, the following report was duly considered, and the recommendation, therein made unanimously adopted, viz:—

The Cape of Good Hope Cheap Meat Committee have the honor to report, that, immediately after the meeting of the inhabitants held on the 28th instant, at which they were requested to open Subscription-lists for Shares in the proposed Cheap Meat Company, and to convene a meeting of the Shareholders, as soon as 5,000 Shares should have been subscribed for, and the value thereof paid up; they caused lists to be placed in the Town House, the several Banks, the Commercial Exchange, and the Public Library, besides each of the Committee members taking a list, for the purpose of procuring subscriptions, of all which due notice was given in the public Newspapers, but that, they regret to say, their exertions have been attended with very little success.

By a resolution of the above public meeting, the Subscription-lists were to be closed on Monday, the 18th instant, and the Committee therefore requested their Secretary to have the lists in on that day. They may ascertain the number of Shares taken, and found that only 619 shares had been subscribed for, and £219 10s. paid up. The members present, as well as another Gentleman who had kindly taken upon himself to assist the Committee in procuring Subscriptions, stated to the Committee that several persons had refused to take Shares in the Company, on account of its being intended to open its Shambles to the public, without conferring any special benefit upon the Subscribers or Shareholders.

Your Committee have therefore deemed it necessary again to call the inhabitants together, with a view of acquainting them with what had been done, and of suggesting to them the expediency of rescinding their resolution to open the Shambles to the public, and of adopting, in lieu thereof, the original recommendation of the Committee, as amended, as follows, as the only means of attaining the object in view, viz:—"That the experiment shall be limited, in the first instance, to supplying meat to subscribers only, but that, as soon as the whole Capital shall have been paid up, the Company's Shambles shall be thrown open to the public, at an advance upon the Company's price to Shareholders.

In addition to which, the Committee would recommend, as in their opinion essential to the success and good working of the undertaking, that the quantity of meat to which each share shall be entitled per diem should be fixed, and moreover, that it should be established that the liability of each shareholder be limited to the amount of his share.

O. J. TRUTER, Sr., Chairman.

Town House, July 22, 1859.

It was also resolved, that the subscription-lists remain open fourteen days, and that, on the expiration of that time, the Shareholders be called together to consider the matter. By order of the Committee, JNO. A. ROOS, Provisional Secretary and Treasurer, Town-house, 22nd July, 1859.

Cape of Good Hope Cheap Meat Company.

The Provisional Committee of the above Company direct it to be notified, for general information, that they have adopted the following resolutions, viz:—

1. That as it is desirable that, before again presenting the Subscription Lists to the public, for signature, the quantity of Meat to which each Share shall be entitled should be agreed upon; it is resolved that the quantity be fixed at 2 lbs. per day, subject, however, to the approval, or otherwise, of the Shareholders.

2. That the members of the Committee be again requested to offer these Lists to the Public, and that Copies be also placed in the Town Hall, the several Banks, South African Library, and the Commercial Exchange.

3. That all Subscriptions be paid to Mr. J. A. ROOS, the Provisional Treasurer.

4. That notice be given to all persons who have subscribed previous to the meeting of the inhabitants of the 22nd instant, of the alterations made by that meeting in the original resolutions, under which they have signed, and that they be informed that, unless objections to their names remaining upon the lists be lodged by them, with the Undersigned, within fourteen days from this date, they will be considered as agreeing to these alterations. By order of the Committee, JNO. A. ROOS, Provisional Secretary and Treasurer.
