

THE ZUID AFRIKAAN.

Cape Town, January 16, 1865.

Forty years were required, in days of yore, to bring the Israelites into the land of promise, or rather to establish them firmly in the possession of the inheritance of the gentiles. Nearly three-fourths of that number of years belong to the past and yet only a fraction of the Emigrants who left the colony—the "land of bondage," as it was then termed by them—can in truth say that they have been allowed to sit in peace under the vine and fig tree reared by them in the land of the gentiles in which they had immigrated so readily to find a new home, a safe refuge. And yet this is but natural. It has been so at all times, and in every country. Wherever the white man has set his foot, either as the invader or the conqueror of heathen lands, the natives, though unable to dislodge him, have continually renewed the struggle for the recovery of their lost patrimony, until they have been either eradicated, or so decimated that they became easily absorbed into the ranks of the conquerors.

Shortly after their migration from the colony, the Emigrant Farmers had to encounter the onslaught of the combined hosts of that formidable chieftain Moselesate; but though few in number, they were actuated by superior bravery, and they not only succeeded in vanquishing, but in driving him to the far North, where, though he has again established a name for himself, he doubtless still retains the recollection of the wholesome chastigation which he received at their hands. Subsequently, after concluding the sale and purchase of Natal with the chief Dingaan, they were treacherously assailed by that chief with an overwhelming force, and though losing many a stout heart and gallant warrior, they in the end triumphed over their swartly foe, who had for the first time learnt that it required the sacrifice of thousands to destroy the units. The Emigrants now believed that they had got a home purchased by their blood, but they were mistaken; the British government followed in their wake and after a brief contest again subjected them to its paternal sway. Many of the Emigrants, tired of the life they had so long led, made up their minds to remain where they were, and have since enjoyed comparative peace and prosperity. Many others, and by far the great majority, retired again beyond the Drakensberg; some of them settled between the Orange and the Vaal Rivers, others between the latter and the Portuguese settlement at Delagoa. They thought they had escaped British interference as well as native molestation, but once more they were mistaken, witness the battle of Boomplaat in the one, the bloody conflicts with Secheli and other tribes in the other region. True; whilst the Emigrants who had settled in the country between the Orange and the Vaal Rivers were once more subjected to British rule, those beyond the Vaal established themselves into a republic, and both were eventually acknowledged as free and independent States; but still they continued to be exposed to the annoyances of the surrounding native tribes and the inhabitants of the Orange Free State in particular—many of them at least—we are in constant danger of their lives. Moshesh, the paramount Chief of the Basutos—remnants of various broken tribes who had rallied around his standard—Moshesh, the man who has to thank the Emigrants for what he now is, and for destroying the power of his once fiercest adversary, proved to be a "thorn in their side." And the alleged cause for this conduct? His questioning of the boundary line fixed by the British Government on its retirement from the Sovereignty, and to which he had both then and subsequently given his adhesion.

Judging from appearances, there could have been no doubt that a war, even a war of extermination, was impending; on either side parties were preparing for the worst. Fortunately President Brand, who had entered upon his office upon the express condition that the people of the Free State should give him their cordial support and full implicit obedience to his rule, referred the matter in dispute to the arbitration of Sir Philip Wodehouse; but whilst he did so, he did not remain inactive. Well does he know that readiness for action is frequently half a battle gained, and he therefore, as soon as Sir P. Wodehouse's decision in his favor was made known, summoned an imposing force to the front, with the view of forcibly expelling the Basutos, should they refuse to withdraw after the expiration of the term fixed by him. This promptness on his part has undoubtedly averted the impending danger; and if thanks are due to Sir P. Wodehouse for the equity of his decision, no less are the inhabitants of the Free State under a debt of deep gratitude to their President for the bloodless victory achieved by him, and well has he earned the laurels expressed in the address presented to him by the inhabitants of Bloemfontein. Even the Basutos are under obligation to him for his moderation. Although they had driven the border farmers from their homes and taken forcible possession of their goods, he would not allow his men to touch anything belonging to them. Such conduct is indeed magnanimous and must gain the respect even of the untutored Heathen.

And now for the first time since the last thirty years, are the Emigrants justified in looking upon their possessions as their own. They may build and cultivate, plant, sow and reap in comparative security, and if the rule which the President has laid down for the future, i.e., to allow no encroachments whatever, and to shoot down every cattle lifter, be but strictly enforced, peace and prosperity must inevitably mark the future of the Free State. So long as the same rule obtained in this colony, our borders were secure. By what disasters its abrogation was followed from time to time, need not be recapitulated.

SEQUESTRATION.—The estates of: Fredrik Andrius Marthinus Voigt, first and second meetings at the magistrate's office, Esarl, 24th and 31st Jan.—John Ludgren, snuff manufacturer, ditto ditto at ditto, Port Elizabeth, 1st and 8th Feb.—William Bridger, builder, first and final meeting at ditto, Victoria East, 3d Feb.—Henry John Baillie, farmer, trader, first and second meetings at ditto, Queen's Town, 30th Jan. and 6th Feb.

COMPULSORY.—The estates of: Charles May Coldridge and George Coldridge, of the Queen's Town division.

FLORICULTURAL AND HORTICULTURAL SHOW.—This Show was held in the new market building on Oudeboon-square on Friday last. It was honored with the presence of His Excellency and Lady Wodehouse and visited by thousands of people. The military band was in attendance. The variety of flowers was limited—chiefly fuchsias and balsams, and the fruit and vegetables were not so good as former Shows. The arrangements, however, as well as the decorations, were excellent.

SHIPS IN DANGER.—The East Lothian which left Table Bay on the 11th, was becalmed during the night at Spout and was drifted close to the rocks, in which dangerous position she remained till the next evening, when the wind blew off the land and she was enabled to put to sea. The Athena, which had gone out to assist her, took her in tow, but the rope snapped, and she could render no further aid. On Friday afternoon the ship Thames, from Bombay, was becalmed close in shore near the former residence of Capt. Smith at Greenpoint where she dropped anchor and remained till Saturday.

REPRESENTATION OF THE CAPE DIVISION.—The election of a member of the Assembly, in the room of Mr. Cole, will take place on Wednesday the 16th February next.

PENNY POST.—From and after this day (16th January) the penny post system will also apply to the post offices at Kalk Bay and Simons Town, and from which places two mails will now be conveyed daily (Sundays excepted).

CALEDON.—Messrs. W. Boone and A. Brown have been elected as auditors, to audit the accounts of the Divisional Council.

WORCESTER.—Messrs. A. D. du Toit and R. P. van der Merwe have been elected as members of the Divisional Council for districts Nos. 2 and 6.

HUMANSDORP.—Miss A. Hawkins has been appointed as deputy postmistress, vice Mrs. M. Hawkins.

ALBERT.—Mr. F. H. Hopley has been elected as member of the divisional council for district No. 4.

The election of a member of the House of Assembly, in the room of Mr. Batema, will take place on Wednesday, the 15th February next.

The Address of the Inhabitants of Bloemfontein. To His Honor Sir J. H. BRAND, President of the Orange Free State:

Honorable Sir.—Scarcely had a period of ten months elapsed since your Honor assumed the reins of Government of this State, ere joyful proofs were afforded us that our hopes, when we hailed a brighter future for this State under your government, were not doomed to disappointment. Our lawless hordes had taken violent possession of our lawful ground, and the grievous oppressions to which our fellow-burgers had to submit had become insupportable. Fruitless had been the appeals to put an end to this humiliating state of affairs, and the audacity of the savages daily increased; and when at last, by the interposition of an esteemed arbitrator, we obtained a favourable decision upon the question of our undeniable rights, you, honorable Sir, jealously that despatch to be carried out and abided by.

It is in consequence of this happy result of your efforts that we, the inhabitants of Bloemfontein, feel ourselves constrained thus openly to give utterance to our joyful feelings. But more. Every one who is acquainted with the position of this country knows and acknowledges that the execution of the task was attended with endless difficulties.

With untiring energy have you completed the necessary arrangements in order boldly to meet the enemy. The measures were taken after due consideration, and with all the precaution necessary to ensure success, and when at last the time for action arrived, your Honor will undoubtedly inspire our enemies with respect.

We thank you, honored sir, that you have executed our most ardent wishes, and confirmed our most ardent hopes, and though no bloody victory distinguishes your triumph, yet this address conveys to your Honor a slight proof of how truly we appreciate the wisdom which knew how to prevent a deadly conflict.

If the many hardships you had to endure, the many sacrifices you had to render, can be in any way requited, we trust our deep felt gratitude may be considered to contribute towards that end, a gratitude which can only be equalled by our attachment to your person. May that attachment be daily increased, and may your health become a happy place of residence to your honor, and to her who so worthily sustained the head of our State in his hour of trial.

We remain with due respect and assurance of attachment to your honor,

Your most obedient Servants,
REPLY.
Bloemfontein, 24th Dec., 1864.

To C. G. Krause, M.D., Messrs. White, Collins, and Grodale, and the other gentlemen who signed the address:

GENTLEMEN.—When I was invited last year to consent to become a candidate for the Presidency of the Orange Free State, my answer was, that were it to turn out contrary to my desire and expectation, that the invitation of a large number of the most influential burglers, conjoined with the choice of the people, I should then regard it as my duty to try whether I might not perchance become an instrument in God's hand for promoting the welfare and happiness of my countrymen in the Orange Free State. And should there now appear reason to rejoice in the prospect of a bright future, let us render thanks to a bounteous Providence which has hearkened to our prayers and mine, and has so mercifully blessed our efforts for the prosperity of our State.

Next to Providence is our gratitude due to His Excellency Sir Philip Wodehouse for the satisfactory result which has attended the settlement of the so long pending question of the boundary line, and that without any bloodshed. Truly unwearied was that most respected arbitrator in patiently listening to and examining what was advanced by both parties concerned, and in inspecting with his own eyes, at the expense of much labor and inconvenience, everything that could possibly tend to clear up the matter in dispute. As we had a righteous cause, we were enabled to cherish a reasonable hope that His Excellency would, after a calm and impartial inquiry, arrive at the conclusion that our claims were grounded on justice and equity. The award, therefore, of the Governor of the Cape Colony was in conformity with what the Government of the Orange Free State had always asserted to be the true boundary line between the Free State and Basutoland, and has thus placed our boundary rights in the clearest and most convincing light. Although it was not unreasonable to expect that the Basuto Chiefs would readily acquiesce in, and comply with, the decision of His Excellency the Governor of the Cape Colony, to whose award they had promised to submit, prudence nevertheless required that the requisite decisive measures should be adopted to enforce compliance, in case of need, with that award, with weapons in our hands, and thus to maintain and protect the rights of our State and its burglers. While it undoubtedly behoves us to desire and to cherish peace, and to do everything in our power to make it firm and permanent, we are alone able in reality to secure the privileges and the enjoyment of peace by being always fully prepared for war; and by holding everything in readiness for asserting our rights, should need be, by the sword, and by inspiring our enemies with a salutary awe and respect.

While it should ever be our motto to be just towards the neighbouring native tribes, it is also necessary to show them in the most unequivocal manner what we demand from equal justice towards ourselves, and that we are firmly resolved and fully prepared to devote our substance and our blood to the protection and maintenance of our just rights. With such views and motives were the necessary measures adopted, and sufficient force raised to compel compliance in case of need, with the award of His Excellency Sir P. Wodehouse. With the greatest cheerfulness and unanimity did the burglers respond to this call. Strong in their reliance on the Lord of Hosts, convinced of the justice of our cause, animated with fervid patriotism, and powerful by unanimity, they were fully prepared to protect, if need were, the rights of the State and its burglers at the cost of their lives; and while an adequate force marched with me to the boundary, the remaining burglers held themselves in readiness to hasten to the aid of their fellow-burgers at the first signal.

That God, however, who guides the hearts of men at His will, so disposed matters in His goodness, that we had no need to have recourse to arms, that the Basutos showed an inclination to respect our rights, and that all terminated peaceably.

For this renewed manifestation of your kind and good feeling towards me, as displayed in your address, pray accept my merited and sincere thanks. In the name, likewise, of my beloved spouse, I beg to thank you for your cordial manner in which you speak of us. The feelings manifested by you in this address will act on me as a powerful incentive to persevere with unflagging spirit and zeal in my efforts to promote the welfare of the Orange Free State.

Permit me, in conclusion, to wish you all—"A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!"

Your obedient servant,
(Sgd.) J. H. BRAND.

Original Correspondence.

Worcester, January 10th, 1865.

Sir,—Here we are just having entered the year of grace one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, the anniversary of the birth of our Lord and Saviour, and of many other blessings bestowed to the world, when alchemy, astrology, sorcery, and witchcraft were implicitly believed in by the highest as well as the lowest. When we look around and observe the many signs of the progress that civilization has made during the last few centuries, we are struck by the contrast between the present and the past, and we are led to exclaim, "How great is the power of the spirit of truth to expel the evil spirit by counter spells and incantations. Yet such has actually taken place in this our town of Worcester (but pray, gentle and courteous reader, tell it not in Gath, lest the God's should irritate the land, dry it up, with tears) during last week, as the following case, which came before the Resident Magistrate on Monday last, will show. However ridiculous the affair may seem, its very existence has a tendency to do a great deal of harm among the ignorant. So thought Dr. Kuys, who brought the imposture to the notice of the Clerk of the Peace. As I share the general opinion, I send you a lengthy report, so that, if you deem it of such importance as to print it in the press, the evil may be a measure guarded against, if not by the mass, in the efficacy of which too many have faith, at least by the faculty, who perhaps are the greatest sufferers.

TAN QUEN vs. JAMA ROE ASSAULT.—Dr. Kuys, on being sworn, stated, "I am a medical practitioner, and have a patient, Wante de West, in the house of John Humphries. On Friday, the 6th instant, he was under my treatment. I had occasion to apply a blister to him on his neck two or three days prior to the 6th. Mr. de West is labouring from a severe cold, which commenced with head-ache. I consider it a spasmodic affection, if you deem it of such importance as to print it in the press. On Friday morning I gave him a strong aperient medicine, which he took, and which appears to have produced a good effect. On my arriving there in the evening I saw a great concourse of people in the street, and also in the house and room of the patient, calling out, 'Dr. Kuys, brand brand!' On asking him what was the matter, he said that an old woman had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's medicine, but which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

me, which would still do good. In the evening Mrs. Otto, the wife of the patient came to me and said she would like to see me alone. He then said that she had been told that the patient was bewitched, and she had called in a black doctor, who had given him some medicine, and that she also applied some strong liniment, particularly on the part blistered, which gave him the most excruciating pain. He said that his prisoner was the party. He also complained of severe pain in the chest. I had some soothing liniment applied to the blistered part, and gave him a dose of medicine. On further inquiry I found that he had actually taken the medicine given by prisoner. The following morning I addressed a letter to the patient informing him that unless he changed his abode, I would not visit him any longer. I consider the patient's life to be greatly endangered by this interference on the part of the prisoner. Dr. Glaeser, the only other medical practitioner, refused to visit the patient on account of what had happened unless I advised him yesterday morning to do so. I saw Mrs. Otto, the mother of the patient, also Mrs. John Humphries, and after having told her about the medicine, Mrs. Humphries acknowledged that she agreed to call the black doctor, who gave him a dose of medicine. By prisoner.—Mrs. Humphries only said that 'We came to a conclusion to call in a black doctor.' Mrs. J. Humphries, on being sworn, said—'Last week de West took ill at my house, and was laid up there. We were attended at first by Dr. Glaeser, but afterwards when he came to his house, he called in Dr. Kuys. The latter attended him on Friday the 6th, and gave him some medicine. Prisoner was in the Friday in the shop, and heard the patient complaining in his room with pain, when she said that he was bewitched, and that she had seen him. She replied, 'I am I then told her to stand in the doorway and 'men the child as he lay there, and she could give him something—not disagreeing with the doctor's

IRONMONGERY.
L. H. Twentyman & Co.
 ARE NOW LANDING
"EX GEFFRARD,"
 AND LATE ARRIVALS.
HOOP IRON
 Camp Ovens and Baked Pots
 Camp Kettles, in nests
 Braided Iron Garden-Seats
 Do. do. do. Tables
 Cart and Wagon Springs
 Nail and Colling's Patent Axes
 Ash-Planting Green
 Long Black
 Mixed and Dry Plates
 Putty, White and Red Lead
 Putty's Spades
 Green's and Corn Mills
 Hollowware, in Sausages, Kettles, &c.
 Iron and Steel
 Harness-Mountings.

A varied assortment of CUTLERY, SADDLERY, AND PLATED WARE.
 ALSO ON HAND:
 Bar and Sheet Lead, Lead Pipe, Sheet Zinc, Corrugated Galvanized Iron, Galvanized Ridging, Piping, &c., Sheet Zinc, &c., &c.

L. H. Twentyman & Co.
 ARE RECEIVING
EX "Geffard" & "A.O.A." &c.
PUNJUMS, Brown and White
 Checks Blue and White, and Fancy
 Flannels and Bales (Green and White)
 Tweeds and Duckskin
 Hats and Caps—Men's Boots and Shoes—Men's, Women's, and Children's Matts and Matting (Oceon Gore), Twine
 Hessian and Sacking (strip)
 Leather, English Sole
 Bath Bags; Oil—Boiled, Raw, and Neatfoot
 Starch—Colman's; Mixed Spices
 Bags—Wool and Grain
 Butter (Irish), Cheese; Chibory
 Blue (Thumb), (Salt in glass jars)
 Oil—Castor and Sweet—Pickles, &c., &c.

Earthenware.
 A FEW CRAPES, ex "Geffard."
L. H. TWENTYMAN & Co.
 Allsopp's Ale } In Pints
 Hibbert's Porter } and Quarts
 NOW LANDING ex "A. O. A."
L. H. TWENTYMAN & Co.
 24, Heerengracht, and Longmarket-street,
 Cape Town.

Cheap Hanging Paper.
 JUST UNPACKED 15,000 ROLLS HANGING
 PAPER (modern style), varying in price from 4d.
 per Roll and upwards, at
H. H. LEY'S.
 3, Market-square.

MUTUAL
Life Assurance Society,
 Favourable Investment.

ON
Monday, 30th instant,
 AT 11 O'CLOCK,
MR. R. D. JONES WILL SELL,
 BY PUBLIC AUCTION,

WITHOUT RESERVE,
 THOSE ELIGIBLY-SITUATED PREMISES
 in St. George's-street, formerly occupied by the Mutual and Equitable Assurance Companies as Office, and now tenanted by Messrs. COL-LINGS, Stone, & Co., as Stores.
 Terms of payment will be made very favourable to purchasers.
 By order of the Board,
J. C. GIE, Jr., Sec.
 Cape Town, 29th Jan., 1865.

General Estate & Orphan Chamber.
 In the last-mentioned House of JACOB DANIEL TROSBEL, P.
 J. Sen, of Tulbagh.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE
LANDED PROPERTY,
 Household Furniture,
SMITHS' TOOLS &c.,
 NEAR TULBAGH,
At the Waterfalls River,

ON
Tuesday, the 31st January, 1865.

THE Directors of the General Estate & Orphan Chamber will cause to be sold on the spot, for account of the above Estate, the following Property, viz.—
 1st. TWO DWELLING-HOUSES under thatch roof, each containing Three Rooms, Hall, Pantry, Kitchen, Stable, Wagon House, Out-house, and a Garden planted with Fruit and other Trees. There is also attached to the above a Smith's and Wagonmaker's Shop, where a good and profitable Business might be carried on.
 2nd. DWELLING-HOUSE under thatch roof, containing Four Rooms, Hall, Pantry, Kitchen, Servant's Room, Stable, Wagon House, and a Garden with Fruit, and other Trees.
 The above Property is always let, is well known for its fertility, has an abundance of Water, and is situated between the Boonbosch and Waterfalls Rivers within five minutes' walk of the proposed Railway Station, and two minutes from the Waterfalls.

FURNITURE, &c.,
 Consisting of Chairs, Tables, Wardrobes, Bedsteads,
 Clock, Kitchens and Forns, Pots, Pan, Saddle and Bridle,
 Sewing-machine and Sewing, Smith's Bellows, Bending Frame,
 1 Box Tools, Navel Spokes, Wheel Frame, &c., &c.
LIBERAL BONUS WILL BE GIVEN.
 Sale to commence at 11 o'clock a.m.
J. F. G. PIETROSEN, Administering Trustee.
MR. H. A. ZINN, Auctioneer.

REMOVAL.
 Messrs. TUPPIN AND STONEYBROOK, Arabian, Jew and Burgundy, have removed their Offices from the Colonial Bank to Adderley Chambers, Adder-ley-street, opposite the Store of Messrs. W. DICKSON & Co.

BOARD OF EXECUTORS.
SALE OF
VALUABLE FARMS,
FARMING IMPLEMENTS,

LIVE STOCK, AND FISHING BOATS AND GEAR.

MR. MELT JACOBUS BRINK, Dr.'s Son, wishing to disencumber himself of his Farming and other Business, has caused the Directors of the Board of Executors to sell by Public Auction, on the spot,

On Thursday, 19th Instant,
AT 11 A.M.

1. His Well-known and Valuable Grasing and Wine Farm, called "VICTORS KLOOF," situate at HOUT BAY, in the Cape District, being about an hour's drive from the Village of Wynberg and ten minutes from the Beach. Measuring in extent Four Hundred and Twenty five Morgen of Ground, on which are erected a DWELLING HOUSE, containing seven large and airy Rooms, besides Kitchen, &c., Wine Cellar, a Stable, 35 ft. long, five Servants' Rooms, and Out-Office. The Proprietor has expended £900 in improvements to these Buildings, and has planted the Grounds with 40,000 Vines and assorted Fruit Trees, which are now in full bearing.
 2. Another Farm, annexed to the above, in extent One Hundred and Thirty six Morgen, 123 Square Roods, and 43 do. feet. These Farms are also well adapted for Sheep and Cattle, Gardening, and Sowing purposes, the same being well supplied with water.

FARMING IMPLEMENTS,
 A Brandy Still Cooler complete, Seven Stukvats, Three Fermenting Tubs, Eight two-halftan casks, Six Leaguers, two-halftan Pressing Tub complete, a Wine Pump, Buckets, &c., a Horse Wagon, a Covered Cart on Springs, a Scotch do., Harness for Eight Horses, Two Ploughs, Baskets, Pickaxes, Spades, Chaff
 and other bags, and many other Farming Implements, too numerous to be specified.

LIVE STOCK
 About two Hundred and Fifty Sheep and Goats,
Fishing Boats and Gear.

Two Boats and Eight Oars, Two Large Fishing Nets complete, nine do. Lines.
 Seventeen Salt Fish Tubs, a Hut for Salt Fish, which is erected on the beach, &c. &c.

Bonus and Refreshments.
C. J. C. GIE, Secretary.
 Cape Town, 12th January, 1865.
Mr. J. Hofmeyr, Auctioneer.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE,
PIANO FORTE, &c.

THE Undersigned having received instructions from Mr. L. WIENER, who is about leaving for Europe, will sell by Public Auction at Tulbagh, at his Residence,

On Monday, January 30th,
 THE WHOLE OF HIS
Household Furniture, &c., CONSISTING OF
PARLOUR FURNITURE,

In Mahogany Horsehair Covered Chairs and Sofa, a Richly Toned Pianoforte, by
 "DARTE," nearly new, Handsome Harmonium, by ALEXANDER, Brussels Carpet, Curtains and Poles, Mahogany Loo Table, &c., &c.

ALSO,
 DINING ROOM FURNITURE, comprising Mahogany Sideboard, Stink-wood Chairs, Pier Glass, Sofa, Side Tables, &c., &c.
 BED ROOM FURNITURE, embracing Mahogany Wardrobes, Iron Bedsteads, Wash Stands, Toilet Tables, Glasses, &c., &c., Besides a quantity of Kitchen Utensils, Glass and Crockeryware.

ALSO,
 An Excellent Covered Cart by KING, Plated Harness, and 1 Pair of Excellent Grey Stallions, 4 years old, a quantity of other Articles, too numerous to particularize.
H. ZINN, Auctioneer.
 Tulbagh, January 12th, 1865.

Valuable Farm for Sale.
THE PAARL BOARD OF EXECUTORS.
 Capital, £40,000.
 In Shares of £200 each.

THE Undersigned is desirous, in consequence of indisposition, to direct himself of his office. He therefore invites Tenders for the purchase of his farm DUKERVALLEY, which, independent of all its other advantages, is so well known for the profitable TRADE which has been carried on there for many years, that all further recommendation is superfluous.
 Tenders must be sent in, on or before the 15th February, to the office of this paper.
J. J. SNIBBE.
 Dukervalley, Jan. 12th, 1865.

Western Province Bank
Paarl.
 Nominal Capital ... £50,000
 Paid Up Capital ... 30,000
 Reserve Fund ... 10,000

DIRECTORS:
 J. B. ERDEBERG, Esq. M.D. Chairman.
 J. J. PROCTOR, M. P. Esq.
 J. SMUTS, M. D. Esq.
 A. B. DE VILLIERS, Esq.
 C. C. A. DE VILLIERS, Esq.
 A. J. LOUW, Esq.
 MELT VAN DER SPUY, Esq.

The Bank allows interest on Fixed Deposits at the following rate:
 3 Months and above 3 per cent.
 6 " " " " 4 " " "
 12 " " " " 5 " " "

Directors attend TUESDAYS and FRIDAYS, at 10 a.m. for the purpose of deciding on applications for Discount.

B. P. DU PLESSIS, Cashier.

THE SOUTH AFRICAN
MORTGAGE & INVESTMENT COMPANY, ADMINISTERING THE
 Insolvent Estate of J. W. B. A. Stuckeris, WILL HOLD AN EXTENSIVE SALE OF

Landed Property
Household Furniture,
PLATE,
Plated Ware, &c.,
ON THE CAMP GROUND.

On Monday, 23rd January,
Tuesday, 24th Jan., 1865,

AND ON
WHEN WILL BE DISPOSED OF,
WITH LIBERAL BONUS,

1. The Estate called "LUST EN VREDE," situate on the Zwart River, one of the best Country Residences in the vicinity of the City, the Site being renowned for its coolness and salubrity. THE HOUSE contains nine Rooms, all finished in the best style, and is provided with every convenience a Family can desire. There are numerous Outbuildings, being Servants' Rooms, Coach-Houses, Stables, Menagerie, Pigsty, Yard, &c.
 The GARDEN is planted with a variety of Fruit Trees, 12,000 Vines, and a variety of Vegetables.
 There are FINE AVENUES OF OAK AND FIR, and the Grounds surrounding this Lot are thickly studded with a variety of Fine Trees, not only affording Shade and Protection, but valuable as Timber.
 WATER is plentifully supplied by never-failing Wells and Springs, as well as by the River.
 2. The Estate "LUTGENSBURG" adjoining the above, and bordering on the Krombosch River. THE BUILDINGS on which consist of a Good Dwelling House, a number of Outbuildings, enclosed Yard, &c., and make a comfortable Family Residence. The Garden contains a variety of Fruit Trees, and the Property is well shaded by Oak, Fir, and other Trees. The Place is encompassed by magnificent Fir Trees of great height, and the Forest Land included in this Lot is really of great value.
 3. A NUMBER OF LOTS adjacent to the above Properties, facing Public Roads, each of sufficient size for the erection of Summer Retreats, with Ground for Gardening or Farming purposes, extending from the Main Road on the Camp Ground to Vygekraal, &c.
 A Plan of the whole Property to be sold will lie for inspection at the Office of the Undersigned, Colonial Bank Chambers, from MONDAY, the 16th instant.

Valuable Household Furniture,

PARLOUR.—Mahogany Sofa and Chairs; Loo, Sofa, and Card Tables;
 Organ, Book Case, valuable Oil Paintings, Curtains, Carpets, &c.
HALL.—Mahogany Horsehair Sofa and Chairs, Round Tables, Hall Lamp,
 2 Globes, Damask Curtains, Carpet, &c.
DRAWING ROOM.—Rosewood Suite of Furniture, in Straw and Blue Silk
 Damask, Sofa and Chairs, Sofa, Loo and Card Tables, Easy Chairs,
 Pier Glass, Brussels Carpet and Rugs, Music Stand, Fire Screens, Stools, Window Curtains, &c.
DINING ROOM.—Large Mahogany Dining Table, Sideboard, Waiter's Side Tables, Chairs, Lamps, Chimney Glass, Paintings and Engravings, Carpets, &c.
BREAKFAST ROOM.—Mahogany Corner Sideboards, Set of Tables,
 Oil Paintings, &c., &c.
BED ROOM.—Iron Tent Bedstead and Bedding, Marble Washstand and Dressing Table, Looking Glass, Chairs, &c.

Plate and Platedware,
 SILVER Queen's Pattern Table, Dessert and Gravy Spoons (complete sets),
 Soup and Sauce Ladles, Spoons, Forks, &c., in Plain Silver; Salt Cellars, Butter
 Pots, Sugar Bowls, Waiters, &c.
 SILVER-EDGED Tea Urns, Tea and Coffee Pots, Jugs, Basins, Egg-stands, Bottle-stands, Tureens, Dishes, Sauce Boats, Waiters, Cruet-stands, Dish
 Covers, Branch Candlesticks, &c., &c.

China Ware,
 Several Valuable Dinner, Tea, and Dessert Services, in Scarlet, Gold and Green, White and Blue.

Glass Ware.
 CUT DECANTERS, Jugs, and Water Bottles, Wine, Champagne, and other Glasses, Custard and Jelly Cups, Dessert Service.

Steel and Iron Ware.
 White-Handled Table and Dessert Knives and Forks, Kitchen Utensils in great variety, Swedish Stove, &c.

LIKEWISE,
 A Covered Cart, a Carriage, a Buggy, a Horse, and a quantity of Implements and Timber.

THE SALE WILL COMMENCE AT 10 O'CLOCK PRECISELY.
Refreshments will be Provided.
 FREE TICKETS by Railway to the Rondebosch Station, and for Conveyance thence to the Camp Ground, will be issued to intending Purchasers on application to the Undersigned.
R. LE SUEUR, Manager.

Notice of Removal.

THE Business of the Undersigned from 45, Adderley-street, to the MUTUAL BUILDINGS, where they have just opened an assortment of WEST OF ENGLAND and CONTINENTAL CLOTH of the finest texture and LINCOLN and BENNET'S HATS, superior quality.
J. L. COOK, & Co.
 Mutual Buildings, Nov. 15th, 1864.

Paarl Municipality. Board of Executors.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Commissioners of the Municipality have, in their Meeting of the 3rd instant, fixed the rate for this year at One Half-penny in the Pound, due and payable on the 1st February next.
 By order of Commissioners,
H. P. WIGMAN, Sec.
 Municipality Office, Paarl,
 January 5th, 1865.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Legal Proceedings will be instituted against all Landed Proprietors in this Division who on the 15th Feb., 1865, shall have failed to pay their Road
 Rates for 1864.
H. F. BURTON, Sec.
 Divisional Council,
 Malmesbury, 10th Jan., 1865.

1000 Excellent fat Wethers,
 300 ditto ditto Wether Goats,
 30 ditto Slaughter Oxen.
 THE Undersigned will cause to be sold on THURSDAY, the 17th instant, at Klippan Station, the above number of excellent fat Sheep and Oxen, which will certainly be present.
A. D. J. VAN BLEEK.
 Paarl, January 5, 1865.
 De VILLIERS & HAFFR, Vendue Adms.

1500 Excellent fat Sheep.
 THE Undersigned will cause to be sold on WED-NESDAY, 18th instant, at Klippan Station, the above number of excellent fat Wethers, purchased for cash, and to be brought up by the well known trader
 Ix. J. de VILLIERS, and which will certainly be present.
J. B. DEVILLIERS LOUW.
 Paarl, January 6, 1865.
 De VILLIERS & HAFFR, Vendue Adms.

40 Excellent Fat Slaughter Oxen.
 THE Undersigned will cause to be sold at Klippan Station on FRIDAY, 20th instant, the above number of superior Slaughter Oxen, brought from the Interior
 by the able Trader Mr. A. B. MOSTERT.
A. H. MOSTERT.
 Paarl, 11th January, 1865.
 De VILLIERS & HAFFR, Vendue Adms.

1000 fat Sheep and Goats,
 PURCHASED by the Undersigned for cash,
 and brought forward by him with great care, will be sold at D'Urban on WEDNESDAY, the 18th inst.
J. J. HEINEKE.
J. J. HORNBY, Auctioneer.

Shipping Intelligence.
 ARRIVALS IN TABLE BAY.
 Jan 12—Dreadnought, bk, 379 tons, J. M. Heine, from London 3rd Nov., to Kurraschoe. Cargo general.
 Put in for water.
 13—Briton, R.M.S. 1000 tons, J. Boxer, from Southampton 10th Dec., to this port and Algoa Bay.
 Cargo general.
 14—Tyndal, ship, 1163 tons, E. J. Pashy, from Bombay, 24th October, to Harra. Cargo Cotton.
 14—Glendover, sch, 160 tons, R. Gilbert, from Algoa Bay, 7th January, to this port. Cargo Sandirra.
 DEPARTURES FROM TABLE BAY.
 Jan 12—Roman, R.M.S. to Southampton
 12—New Zealand, p.w. to New Zealand

OPGAAF
 Van Koloniale Oprongst de Stads Markt gepar-ceerd van den 12 tot den 14 January, 1865.

Alses,	Alses,	0
Abrikosen, lbs,	Apricots, lbs,	0
Amandelen, lbs,	Almonds pr lb,	2 1/2
Appelapelen, bushels,	Potatoes, bushels,	4 1/2
Asyn, legger,	Vinegar, leaguers,	0
Boter, lbs,	Butter, lbs,	20 3/4
Brandewyn, leaguers,	Brand, leaguers,	0
Bokkevelien, stukken,	Skins, Goat, pieces,	0
Boonen, bushels,	Beans bushels,	0
Droegs Ossenhuide, st	Hides Ox, pieces,	3
Erwten, bushels,	Peas, bushels,	0
Garst, bushels,	Barley, bushels,	2 1/2
Hoorns, stukken,	Horns, pieces,	0
Harer, bushels,	Oats bushels,	20 3/4
Hooi, vrachten,	Hay, loads,	6 1/2
Kaf, zakken,	Chaff,	0
Koorn, bushels,	Wheat, bushels,	20 1/2
Linsen, do,	Lentils, do,	0
Melies, bushels,	Maize, bushels,	0
Okkeroeten, lbs,	Walnuts lbs,	0
Potatoes, bushels,	Potatoes, Sweet, lbs,	0
Rog, do,	Rye,	12 1/2
Roggen, lbs,	Raisins, lbs,	0
Schapevelien, st,	Sheep Skins,	2 1/2
Stroo, zakken,	Straw, sacks,	0
Uijen, bushels,	Onions, bushels,	17 1/2
Vederen, Ostr., lb,	Feathers, Ostr. lb,	0
Wyn, ordinaire, leaguers,	Wine, common,	0
Do, Pontak do.,	Do, Pontak do.,	0
Wyn,	Wine,	0
Wool lbs,	Wool lbs,	30 1/2
Wynsteen, lb,	Wine Stone, lb,	0
Zout,	Salt, bushels,	0
Lemonap, 1-voet	Lemon Juice, 1-voet	0

MARKT PRYZEN;
 Van den 12 tot den 14 January, 1865.

Alses,	Alses,	0
Amandelen pr lb,	Almonds pr lb,	0
Appelen pr lb,	Apples, pr lb,	0
Abrikosen pr lb,	Apricots, ditto,	0
Appelapelen p 3 b,	Potatoes p 3 b,	3 10
Asyn pr legger,	Vinegar pr leg,	0
Boonen p 3 bush,	Beans p 3 bush,	0
Boter pr pond,	Butter, pr lb,	0
Brandewyn p leg,	Brandy p leg,	0
Bokkevelien p st,	Butchskins, ea,	0
Org, Ossenhuide Dry Oshides,	Ostr. Hides,	0
Senden Ducks & Musc,	Ducks & Musc,	1 4
Erwten per 3 b,	Peas per 3 bus,	0
Syreen per 100,	Eggs per 100,	0
Jare p 3 bushel,	Barley p 3 bus,	0 11
Janzen per stuk Geese,	each,	5 2
Haver p 3 bushel,	Oats per 3 bus,	0 6
Haver p 3 bushel,	Oats per 3 bus,	0 6
Haver p 3 bushel,	Oats per 3 bus,	0 6
Roenders per st,	Poultry each,	0 10
Hoorns, elk	Horns, each,	0
Kalkoenen p st,	Turkeys, each,	0
Kaf p 16 stakken Chaff,	16 st,	10
Kaiken per stuk Calves,	each,	0 6
Koorn per 3 b,	Wheat pr 3 bus,	0 14
Linsen, ditto	Lentils, do,	0
Melies ditto	Maize do,	0
Okkeroeten p lb,	Walnuts, lb,	0
Potatoes p 3 bushel,	Potatoes, 3b,	0
Poren per pond,	Pears, per lb,	0
Campeoesen elk,	Pumpkins, ea,	0
Perdiken per lb,	Peaches per lb,	0
Rog per 3 bushel,	Rye per 3 bus,	0 11
Roggen per lb,	Raisins per lb,	0
Schapevelien p st,	Sheepskins ea,	0
Stroo p vracht,	Straw p load,	0
Uijen p 3 bushel,	Onions p 3 bus,	0
Varkens, gemeste Pigs, fattened,	each,	0
Wyn, ordinaire Do, unfattened	Wine, common,	0
Wyn, ordinaire Do, sucking,	Wine, sucking,	0
Vederen, Str p lb,	Feathers, Ostr, lb,	0
Wyn, ordinaire Do, sucking,	Wine, sucking,	0
Vyn, drof, ditto	Wool, ditto,	0
Wyn, ordinaire Wines, ordin.	Wine, ordin,	0
per legger	per leaguers,	0
Wyn Pontak d'g Do, Pontak do,	Wine, Pontak do,	0
Wyn, do, p. 100 lb Wines, 100 lb	Wine, do, p. 100 lb,	0
Lemonap p 100 Ostrages,	100 lb	0
Lemonap p 3 bushel,	Salt, per 3 bush,	0
Lemonap p 100 Ostrages,	100 lb	0
Lemonap p 100 Ostrages,	100 lb	0
Lemonap p 100 Ostrages,	100 lb	0

J. H. Smeets, Editor, No. 22,
 Water-street.
 J. W. Lutz, No. 16, Water-street,
 Printer and Publisher.