

1. 112

The Last Song

R. Coates.

Handwritten musical score for "The Last Song" by R. Coates. The score is in 3/4 time and consists of a vocal line and a piano accompaniment. The lyrics are: "Let it be beau-ti-ful when I sing the last song! Let it be day". The piano part includes dynamic markings like "f", "Cresc.", and "Cresc. molto", and performance instructions like "Cresc." and "Cresc. molto".

I would stand up - on my two feet

sing

Ped.

-ing

prayer

Ped.

1^o tacet.

I would look up - wards with o - pen

poch. meno

rall.

eyes, sing

pp

Ped.

ing. I would have the

gva

winds to en - ve - lope my bo

rall.

p pochis. meno

dy a tempo I would have the sun to

rall

shine up on my

dy

unperturbed

in tempo

The

whole world

8va

I would have to 8va

rall.

8va make mu sic

rall

cres. e rall

2 3 4 2 3

Molto Meno mosso

with me.

molto rall.

Let it be beau ti

meno

ful when thou would'st slay

me

poco incalzando

gva it be day

gva Sostenuto when I sing gva the last

molto rit e cresc.

song.

a tempo

The Days of Dickens - by Arthur L. Hayward.

"The Dickens encyclopaedia"

Publishers George Routledge & Sons Ltd.
Broadway House. 68.74 Carter Lane
E.C.