MR. ADOLPHE HALLIS.

At the 305th concert of the Johannesburg Musical Society, held on Tuesday evening, some brilliant piano playing of modern composers was given by Mr. Adolphe Hallis, the South African player. It was an unusual programme, consisting of compositions of Moussorgsky, Debussy, Ravel, Goossens, Bax and Stravinsky. Mr. Hallis was in fine form, and appeared to revel in the interpretation of these works. Of special interest was his playing of a number of compositions by South African musicians. It is this kind of performance which gives encouragement to composers in this country.

The whole programme was of an extremely interesting nature, and the concert was undoubtedly one of the most unique in the history of the Johannesburg Musical Society.
