Joseph Plaut Recital.

FAMOUS JEWISH COMEDIAN

A recital will be given in the City Hall on Wednesday, June 3rd, by Joseph Plaut, the celebrated actor, singer and impersonator, who is at present in Cape Town.

He is a great comedian in the Ruth Draper manner and has performed in practically every town in Germany, Holland, Switzerland, etc.

The Municipal Orchestra will play incidental music to this recital which should prove a tremendous attraction.

OPERA HOUSE

JACK PAYNE AND HIS BAND.

Jack Payne and his talented band have held the audiences at the Opera House spellbound with enthusiasm during the past week.
The programme is so very entertaining from overture to conclusion that it is almost difficult to comment especially on any one item of the brilliant vaudeville show.

The band has a personnel of outstanding versatile musicians; their subtle rhythm and attractive melodies have a direct appeal to all lovers of music. Delfont and Poko gave some fascinating eccentric dances. The magical comedian Donald Stuart provoked much laughter as did the mirthful George Jackley. As an impersonator Beryl Orde is extremely talented and Gladys Chapelle is a fine singer. Jack Payne's personality is felt from the moment the curtain rises to the end of his Radio Party.

Those who have seen this company once would like to see it again; this who have not should not miss this fine opportunity of hearing Jack Payne and his band.

THE PLAZA.

"The Heart of a Gypsy." composed by Nat Shilkret, who directed all music in the Laurel and Hardy comedy feature, "The Bohemian Girl," coming on Monday to the Plaza Theatre, is the only song other than those written by Michael Balfe used in the screen version of the Irish bard's opera.
Sung by the Gypsy Queen, the number promises to be a hit and will undoubtedly be heard on many radio programmes during the ensuing months.

All other songs and ballads in the picture are original compositions by Balfe, who wrote them nearly a century ago.

Laurel and Hardy provide the fun in this lively picture.
