

Questions for leader page article. 20/9/81.

Your party presents itself to the electorate as an alternate to the current Government. Your party, were it in power, would certainly handle problems differently from the current regime and, clearly, you believe you could do it better.

How then would your party have handled the Nyanga squatter problem with regard to the conditions (housing, unemployment, etc) which led to the problem and how would you have handled the problem itself.

Given the fact of an arms build-up in southern Angola and the border situation vis-a-vis Swapo, how would your party handle the situation there.

How would your party, were it in power, differ from the present Government's reaction to the high interest currently being shown by the Americans to events in South and southern Africa. How would you go about deriving the maximum benefit for South Africa and for Namibia from the more sympathetic Reagan administration.

In all your alternate scenarios please discourse on the likely consequences of your projected actions.
