COLOSSEUM.

The Colosseum Theatre will have as its feature attraction, starting Monday, "WHITE BANNERS," based on the best-selling novel by Lloyd C. Douglas, who also authored those popular successes, "Magnificent Obsession" and "Green Light." "White Banners" is a picture with universal appeal. Laid in the 1920's, it tells the story of a typical small-town family, discouraged by depression. How they weather this and get a new start in life is a thrilling story that will go straight to the heart of all.

PLAZA.

"LORD JEFF" opens at the Plaza today. Freddie Bartholomew, Mickey Rooney, Charles Coburn, Herbert Mundin and Gale Sondergaard are the principal players. Two hundred others take part.

Freddie appears as an orphan boy who is in the custody of two crooks. They represent him as "Lord Jeff" in an effort to carry out their schemes to raise money.

"Syncopating Hatikvah."

The Editor, S.A. Jewish Chronicle.

Sir,—Is there no way of putting a stop to the playing of "Hatikvah," as dance music?

Surely our young dance pianists would think twice before syncopating "God Save the King," or the "Stem van Suid Afrika."

I sincerely hope that a stop will be put to this disrespect to our "Anthem."—Yours, etc.,

(Miss) S. KASIMOV.
