THE FOUR WINDS.

A Song for the Jewish National Fund Jubilee.

By JESSIE SAMPTER.

I.

A wind is blowing from the North.
With horse and plough I sally forth,
And the hills sing and my heart sings
Where the Jordan bubbles free:
O, Galilee, beloved,
I have come again to thee!

Chorus.

I smite the land,
I break the land,
My ploughshare is my sword.
Mine is the land,
Mine is the land,
The land is mine, said the Lord

II.

A wind is blowing from the South;
With desert sand it fills my mouth,
But the wind sings and my mouth sings
Across the mountain height:
Jerusalem, Jerusalem,
I have found thee, my delight!

Chorus.

III.

A wind is blowing from the East.
My fruits are ripe and I shall feast,
Almond, olive, grape and orange
Across the rolling dunes.
O Sharon, my Sharon,
I am filling thee with tunes!

Chorus.

IV.

A wind is blowing from the West.
I swing my hoe and let it rest,
And the wind sings and my heart sings
Across the grassy plain:
Esdraelon, Esdraelon,
I have come to thee again!

Chorus.

V.

From north and south and east and west
The eaglets gather to their nest
On the summit, on Mount Zion,
Weary, hungry, schooled to pain.
With singing, with shouting,
We have come to thee again!
